VOL. XLV.—No. 186.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., MONDAY EVENING, MAY 22, 1916.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

COUNTY WILL GET ONE-HALF OF FEES

By the measure which Governor Whitman signed on Thursday one half of the fees received from the registration of motor vehicles will be turned over to the county to be applied to highway improvements. In former years the entire fee from the registration of motor vehicles went directly to the state and all funds received this year up until the time the governor signed the bill will go to the state funds, but hereafter the money will be divided fifty-fifty between the state and the county. In New York however, where the city builds the streets, the fund will be turned over to the general fund but in the other counties throughout the state the money will be used for road improvements exclusively.

Just how much Ulster county will receive from this fund is hard to determine as the registration fees vary according to the power of a machine from $5 for a small machine to several times this for the high powered machines. However as two-thirds of the machines come under the $5 fee the amount will amount to several thousand dollars as some 2,300 machines were registered in the county last season. Last year the registration for the state was 234,632 machines while the fee collected amounted to $1,913,175.

The amount of fees in Ulster county has not been exactly determined but using the average figure for the whole state as a basis, the average fee per machine is approximately $9. Using this estimated figure as a basis for figuring the amount paid by the average machine Ulster county's share for last year was over $20,000. With fifty per cent of this being returned to the county its share would be over $10,000. The number of machines registered this year is much larger than last season and the licence fees will probably total more than a quarter of a million dollars more for the entire state than last season. Ulster county's proportionate increase is running up to the remainder of the state and the total amount paid in this year will probably exceed last year's figures by several thousand dollars.

J. O. WINSTON BUYS GUERNSEYS.

Top Prices Paid For Blooded Stock at New Jersey Sale.

Some new records in prices were established at the sale of blooded Guernseys at Florham Farms, Madison, N. J., Saturday and some of this celebrated strain is coming up Ulster county way. J. O. Winston of Saugerties paid some of the top prices realized, getting Princess May Rose at a little less than $2,000, Florham Sunshine at $1,150 and Trembling Dairy Maid, imported, $896 were both struck off to Mr. Winston, who will add all three to his herds on his Saugerties farm. Eighty-five head of cattle were sold at the sale, the total realized being $85,225.

Red Monograms Defeated.

The Red Monogram baseball team of this city was defeated by the fast Peyster team at Tivoli on Sunday afternoon by a score of 11 to 3. The Monograms had their eye on the ball in the batting line, securing sixteen hits to their opponents' eight, but showed a lack of practice in the fielding line, making a large number of errors, nearly all of which proved costly. The Monograms started in like leaguers in the first inning, touching up Dickout for six clean hits, which netted five runs, but they were unable to hold this lead, poor fielding behind Williams ending the De Peysters' run after run. The game was the first played by the Monograms this season and with a little practice, they are sure to develop into one of the fast clubs along the Hudson. The last series were Dickout and Simmons for the De Peysters and Williams and Snedden for the Red Monograms. On Sunday, May 28, the Red Monograms will play the Hyde Park club at Hyde Park.

Dr. Freeman S. O'Brien, the Wappingers Falls bridegroom, who disappeared a week ago today just a few hours before the time set for his marriage to a Poughkeepsie girl, was found last Tuesday in New York in a partially delirious condition at Twenty-third street and Broadway. He was removed to a private hospital where on Friday he recovered sufficiently to tell his name and tell of his car having skidded on the way from Wappingers to Newburgh. Dr. O'Brien then remembered nothing. Dr. O'Brien had some bruises on his head which he claimed he had with him when he could not be found. His family and friends were notified, but according to the Poughkeepsie papers, none of them has yet visited Dr. O'Brien's bedside.

FEDERATION FUNDS SHOW $339 ON HAND

Full Financial Report of Where Money Came From and How It Is Expended—Officers Elected for the Year.

Saturday afternoon marked another milestone in the history of the Federation of Women's Clubs, which has in the seven years of its history accomplished a considerable amount of good in the community. And according to tradition, it will begin a new life as it takes up its eighth year of work, having had its old activities appreciated at their true value and taken over by the city or such other organizations as were best fitted for the special branches of enterprise. In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. F. Moulton, the vice president, Miss Georgia Dendrey, presided. The minutes of the last general meeting, together with those of the last joint general and executive committee meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Grey, and approved.

The report of the secretary was followed by that of the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Merritt, and in view of the fact that the Federation has been falsely reported as in debt, it was voted that a full copy of the financial report be given in the newspaper of the city. The report was as follows:

Next on the program was the report of affiliated committees. Mrs. Gillespie giving the first an interesting account of the year in the Sunshine Society. A brief statistical report by months showed the receipts and expenditures of the society.

With no new cases taken up, the work of caring for the many needy ones dependent upon these workers, had been intensified. There had been much sickness among the elderly people during the past winter. Some of the cases reported about were as follows:—A paralytic father, a perfectly helpless daughter who has sat in her chair for four years, a brave and cheery mother who cares for both, and only the smallest possible income. The mother's courage is an inspiration. Another, where an elderly woman lost her daughter by death, two little boys being left to the care and support of the grandmother, who worked for them as long as she was able. She is not now well enough to work, so that the family is dependent upon the small rent paid by the Sunshine Society, and the clothing furnished, in addition to a little money which the elder boy is able to earn. Still another woman deserted by her husband, having five small children. Very capable and energetic, she is able through the number of places secured for her through the society and such other aid as they can give, to keep her little family together.

Still another woman, a widow with three little ones is earning enough to keep her family at home by washing day after day. There are but a few of the many cases cared for by the society, which, while it will hold no meetings after June first, will, through the summer, provide the customary rents and milk as usual.

The Political Equality Club reported progress.

Mrs. Fessenden stated that the work of the Social Center Association would continue although housed in other quarters than the old Federation House. On Monday May 22, the sewing class, will be resumed for another year, the children gathering in a room at School No. 3. Miss Grace Holmes, teacher of sewing at the high school will help the volunteer workers to teach the children, and these classes will continue their efforts until School No. 3 shall be permitted to follow in the footsteps of the other schools having sewing classes.

Nor will the Saturday Evening Club of older girls disband. They will hereafter meet at the different homes of the girls. Both changes mark a degree of social progress in the community.

Mrs. Batten, chairman of the membership committee, reported 59 bills sent out to individual members, and 59 returns of dues received, also dues from 8 clubs. Miss Van Keuren of the Press committee, stated that reports of all meetings had been sent to the various newspapers of the city.

The communication from the Monday Sewing Club, read at the last executive committee meeting and reported in Thursday evening's Freeman of last week, was read.

Then, in accordance with a motion made and carried at the joint general and executive committee meeting, the outline for new work as prepared by Mrs. Reed was presented by Mrs. William Lawton. In Mrs. Reed's absence, and was acted upon by sections, with the following results:

The work of the Federation shall be hereafter carried on in committees, each committee in any special movement to have the co-operation and support of the entire Federation.

The Civic committee shall have one chairman, and three sub-committees to operate in the uptown, middle and downtown sections of the city.

The Public Health and Child Welfare committee, shall have one chairman, and three sub-committees, each to operate in the uptown, middle and downtown sections of the city.

The Educational committee shall have one chairman, and three sub-committees for each section of the city.

The Theatrical Censorship committee shall have one chairman and three sub-committees for each section of the city.

The Preparedness committee shall have one chairman, to be aided by a committee of the whole.

Membership committee, the executive committee which shall institute an active campaign for membership. It was further moved that other committees should be added as found necessary.

This closed the business of the year, and the report of the nominating committee, Miss Katharine O. Van Keuren, chairman, was received as follows: President, Mrs. C. K. Moulton; first vice president, Mrs. C. G. Ellis; second vice president, Mrs. C. N. Reed; treasurer, Mrs. Hyman R. Coon; recording secretary, Miss Mary Schaeffer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Grace V. B. Grey. The officers as presented by the nominating committee were unanimously elected.

The meeting was then turned over to the Political Equality Club and the chairman, Mrs. Michael, expressed the deep regret of the club that the Blackburn of Albany could not be present, as she had hoped to be up to the last moment, owing to critical illness in her family. However, the club was most fortunate in being able to present as the speaker for the afternoon, Rear-Admiral Francis J. Higginson, who spoke on "Preparedness." The address was interesting, instructive, especially from an historic viewpoint, and contained much sound sense on this pertinent topic. Both the Political Equality Club and the Federation expressed their thanks for and appreciation of the able address. The meeting then adjourned.

Three boarders placed their names upon the register at the county hotel at No. 1815 Wall street, two from the town of Knopus and one from the town of Ulster. John Carney was brought to the jail from East Kingston on a warrant issued by Judge Mooney and will be held for a hearing.

William Burns, a former boarder at 1815 was brought to jail Saturday on a warrant issued by Judge McKenzie of Port Ewen. He will also be held until a date is fixed for a hearing in Judge McKenzie's court. Burns is alleged made dire threats of assaults and intent to kill. Lester Van Wagenen was also brought to the jail to await hearing on Tuesday on a charge of non-support.

MOTOR VEHICLE LAW CONVICTIONS MANY

In 18 Days 932 Persons Were Convicted, Nearly 52 a Day—Most of the Convictions For Speeding in New York City.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 22.—No less than 932 persons were convicted during the first eighteen days of this month for violations of the motor vehicle law of this state. Fines imposed aggregated $13,413, ranging all the way from $1 to $100. Of the total convictions 785, or 84 per cent, occurred in the courts of Greater New York. The activity of the metropolitan authorities in the enforcement of the motor vehicle law is strikingly shown from figures just compiled from the records of convictions now being kept under the direction of Secretary of State Hugo. The influence of the pleasant weather of the last three weeks is revealed in the fact that the convictions thus far in May nearly exceed the total during the months of March and April.

A desire to hit only the high spots brought 669 persons before the courts for conviction during the eighteen days. The records show that the New York courts do not mince matters in handing out fines, nine-tenths of the emulators of speed kings handing over $25 and upwards. In one instance a fine of $100 was imposed, the limit allowed by the Callan law.

The greater part of the arrests and convictions for speeding occurred in New York. The records show that smaller fines prevailed in the upstate cities, some being as low as $5.

During the first half of the month, 23 persons with cars minus rear lights were convicted. Thirty-one were arrested for reckless driving and as a rule the records show heavy fines imposed. Twenty-nine did not bother to secure a license and were nabbed, 17 became entangled in the meshes of the law for running without lights. Still fines appear to be the rule for violations of the local ordinances requiring the autoist to stop while a street car is at a standstill.

Technical violations of the law, running all the way from inadequate brakes to a rear license plate swinging in the wind, resulted in 125 convictions during the last 18 days. A few persons got into trouble on account of using a number plate belonging to another or in rounding a corner without sounding a warning. In one case the records show that 20 days was meted out to an operator who in an intoxicated condition was driving his car. Up to and including May 15, this year, 226,000 motor vehicles, including those of dealers, have been registered with Secretary of State Hugo as compared with 160,000 a year ago this time.

Hike to Lake Mohonk.

Saturday morning the girls of the G. A. A. of the high school awoke to the wee hours of the morning, rubbed their eyes, yawned, and proceeded to prepare for a day's trip to Lake Mohonk. They went by way of the Wallkill Valley, whose well intended jolts and jounces succeeded in getting them well awake by the time New Paltz was reached. From there some of the fair damsels rode through the triumphal gateway and on up the mountain while others, who were far in the majority, walked the dusty by-way or better highway, and strange to say these found that they were somewhat hungry when they reached the top. It was very inconvenient to carry those baskets of lunch all that way, but since the girls' time on the summit was equally divided between eating and seeing the beautiful scenery, it was generally decided that lunch carrying is a necessary evil. The "fat man's misery" and the narrow way to skytop held no terrors for these dauntless girls of basketball fame, and after mastering the hardships of the climb they at last wended their way down the other side of the mountain. Then after some discussion it was decided to return to the city via the G. A. W. instead of walking those few extra miles. The happy, but it must be confessed, weary party, reached home about eight o'clock in the evening and the day's trip was voted a great success. Among those who went were Ruth Humphrey, Josephine Schmid, Faith Safford, Helen Weber, Mary and Elizabeth Kingman, Elizabeth Ten-Broek, Irene Joslovitz, Anna Cassidy and Miss Seigel.

Three Arrivals at the Jail.

Three boarders placed their names upon the register at the county hotel at No. 1815 Wall street, two from the town of Knopus and one from the town of Ulster. John Carney was brought to the jail from East Kingston on a warrant issued by Judge Mooney and will be held for a hearing.

William Burns, a former boarder at 1815 was brought to jail Saturday on a warrant issued by Judge McKenzie of Port Ewen. He will also be held until a date is fixed for a hearing in Judge McKenzie's court. Burns is alleged made dire threats of assaults and intent to kill. Lester Van Wagenen was also brought to the jail to await hearing on Tuesday on a charge of non-support.

MR. STOKES MISSED CIRCUS PARADE

He Came from Highland Circus Day, But Spent too Much Time in a Thirst Emporium—Discovered Saturday Still Sleeping Off Jag.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Severyn Stokes came all the way to Kingston from Highland on Friday to see the circus parade, but unfortunately the lure of a thirst emporium was too great and he wandered in to wash out some of the Highland dust that clogged his throat. After the dust had been sufficiently settled Mr. Stokes still continued to sample various grades of booze handled in Kingston, and missed the circus parade which was the real attraction that had brought him to Kingston.

This morning Mr. Stokes was arraigned before Recorder Lang on a charge of public intoxication. He told the story of his pilgrimage to this city, and confessed that he was intoxicated. He really could not remember where he slept Friday night, but he had a hazy recollection of meeting a few friends Saturday morning and at their request paid a visit to Rondout. He had never seen Rondout during the years he had spent on this planet, and after he had sampled a drink in a downtown saloon he forgot what Rondout looked like. In fact that was the last thing he remembered.

Although Mr. Stokes had forgotten it was brought out that Policeman Connelly while patrolling his beat on West Strand was startled by a series of strange noises at the foot of the Company hill. He investigated and found Mr. Stokes asleep on his back with his mouth wide open, and emitting the snoring noises that attracted the officer's attention.

Recorder Lang after looking Mr. Stokes over closely, sentenced him to 60 days in the county jail. It might be added that while Mr. Stokes is not well acquainted with Rondout he has more than a passing acquaintance with 1815 Wall street.

Stearns Thought He Was Pursued.

Said He Hid in Police Commissioner Zeeh's Yard to Escape Foe Men—Too Much Joy Juice Proved His Undoing.

Saturday evening Police Commissioner Peter P. Zeeh saw a strange man lurking in the backyard of his bottling plant on West Union street and notified Policeman James V. Simpson who placed the stranger under arrest. It developed later that the stranger's name was Fred Stearns of Nyack. He had been working on the steamer Ramadell, but lately had been drinking too much joy juice. Saturday evening he said he thought he was pursued by four men who were about to beat him up, but being faster of foot he escaped them. He knew no reason why the men should beat him, but they were going to do so. Sunday when he woke up in jail he said he thought he was in New York, and it was not until he was brought before Recorder Lang this morning that he realized he was still in Kingston. He was given 30 days in jail to sober up.

High School in Big Parade.

Stimulated by a quiet but very effective address by Captain Meagher, of Company M, the high school boys this morning were thoroughly aroused to the spirit of the coming Memorial Day parade.

Captain Meagher spoke but a very few minutes but accomplished a great deal in the short space of time he took, for a few days ago only some 100 or so boys volunteered when asked to march, and this morning practically all the resident students pledged their support.

The students were very kindly offered the assistance of members of the company in sizing up their ranks and a plan was suggested of having a battalion of four companies of students, each company representing the students of a certain year in school.

A few words were then said regarding the military training that is coming into the school course this fall throughout the state, and the demonstration this morning gives practical assurance of the support this movement will receive.

CRAP SHOOTING MUST BE STOPPED

Recorder Lang Fined Two Crap Shooters $5 Each Today—They Were Hounded up by Officer Welsh.

Saturday night Policeman Welsh raided a crap game in progress at the corner of Abel and Ravine streets and caught Peter Augustine and Charles Busch, two young men.

This morning they were arraigned before Recorder Lang, who imposed a fine of $5 each, which they paid. He informed them that shooting crap on the streets must be stopped. It is understood that all crap shooters caught in the future will be severely fined if found guilty.

Snow in Catskills.

A snowfall was reported Thursday in Hunter and Tannersville.

The Kingston Daily Freeman.

VOL. XLV.—No. 186.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., MONDAY EVENING, MAY 22, 1916.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

COUNTY WILL GET ONE-HALF OF FEES

By the measure which Governor Whitman signed on Thursday one half of the fees received from the registration of motor vehicles will be turned over to the county to be applied to highway improvements. In former years the entire fee from the registration of motor vehicles went directly to the state and all funds received this year up until the time the governor signed the bill will go to the state funds, but hereafter the money will be divided fifty-fifty between the state and the county. In New York however, where the city builds the streets, the fund will be turned over to the general fund but in the other counties throughout the state the money will be used for road improvements exclusively.

Just how much Ulster county will receive from this fund is hard to determine as the registration fee varies according to the power of a machine from $5 for a small machine to several times this for the best powered machines. However, two-thirds of the machines come under the $5 fee the amount will amount to several thousand dollars, as some 2,300 machines were registered in the county last year. Last year the registration fee for the state was $24,032 machines while the fee collected amounted to $11,913.175.

The amount of fees in Ulster county has not been exactly determined but using the average figure for the whole state as a basis, the average fee per machine is approximately $5. Using this estimated figure as a basis for figuring the amount paid by the average machine Ulster county's share for last year was over $20,000. With fifty per cent of this being returned to the county, the amount would be $10,000. The number of machines registered this year is much larger than last season and the license fees will probably total more than a quarter of a million dollars more for the county than last season. Ulster county's proportionate increase is easily up to the remainder of the state and the total amount paid in this year will probably exceed last year's figures by several thousand dollars.

J. O. WINSTON BUYS GUERNSEYS

Some new records in prices were established at the sale of blooded Guernseys at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Saturday and Sunday. The celebrated strain is coming up Ulster county way. J. O. Winston of Saugerties paid some of the top prices realized, getting Princess May Rose at a little less than $2,000, Poughkeepsie Sunshine at $1,150 and Dingy Dairy Maid, imported $800 were both struck off to Mr. Winston who will add all three to his herd on his Saugerties farm. Eighty-five head of cattle were sold at the sale, the total realized being $35,225.

Red Monograms Defeated.

The Red Monogram baseball team of this city were defeated by the fast De Peyster team at Tivoli on Sunday afternoon by a score of 11 to 8. The Monograms had their eye on the ball in the batting line securing sixteen hits to their opponents' eight, but showed a lack of practice in the fielding line, making a large number of errors, nearly all of which proved costly. The Monograms started in like leaguers in the first inning, touching up Dickout for six clean hits, which netted five runs, but they were unable to hold this lead, poor fielding behind Williams giving the De Peysters run after run. The game was the first played by the Monograms this season and with a little practice, they are sure to develop into one of the fastest clubs along the Hudson. The batteries were Dickout and Simmons for the De Peysters and Williams and Smedley for the Red Monograms. On Sunday, May 28, the Red Monograms will play the Hyde Park club at Hyde Park.

Druggist Skipped on Road.

Dr. Freeman S. O'Brien, the Wappingers Falls druggist, who disappeared a week ago today just a few hours before the time set for his marriage to a Poughkeepsie girl, was found last Tuesday in New York in a partially delirious condition at Twenty-third street and Broadway. He was removed to a private hospital where on Friday he recovered sufficiently to tell his name and tell of his having skidded on the way from Wappingers to Newburgh. From then he remembered nothing. Dr. O'Brien had some bruises on his head which he claimed he had with him could not be found. His family and friends were notified, but according to the Poughkeepsie papers, none of them has yet visited Dr. O'Brien's bedside.

FEDERATION FUNDS SHOW $339 ON HAND

Full Financial Report of Where Money Came From and How It is Expended—Officers Elected for the Year.

Saturday afternoon marked another mile stone in the history of the Federation of Women's Clubs, which has in the seven years of its history accomplished a considerable amount of good in the community. And according to tradition, it will begin a new life as it takes up its eighth year of work, having had its old activities appreciated at their true worth and taken over by the city or such other organizations as were best fitted for the special branches of enterprise. In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. F. Moulton, the vice president, Miss Georgia Deudney, presided. The minutes of the last general meeting, together with those of the last joint general and executive committee meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Grey, and approved.

The report of the secretary was followed by that of the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Merritt, and in view of the fact that the Federation has been falsely reported as in debt, it was voted that a full copy of the financial report be given in the newspapers of the city. The report was as follows:

Next on the program was the report of affiliated committees. Mrs. Gillaspie giving the first an interesting account of the year in the Sunshine Society. A brief statistical report by months showed the receipts and expenditures of the society. With a few new cases taken up, the work of caring for the many needy ones dependent upon these workers, had been intensified. There had been much sickness among the elderly people during the past winter. Some of the cases reported about were as follows: A paralytic father, a perfectly helpless daughter who has sat in her chair for four years, a brave and cheery mother who cares for both, and only the smallest possible income. The mother's courage is an inspiration. Another, where an elderly woman lost her daughter by death, two little boys being left to the care and support of the grandmother, who worked for them as long as she was able. She is not now well enough to work, so that the family is dependent upon the small rent paid by the Sunshine Society, and the clothing furnished in aid of the old boy is able to earn. Still another woman deserted by her husband, having five small children. Very capable and energetic, she is able to keep her family together. Still another woman, a widow with three little ones is earning enough to keep her family at home by washing day after day. These are but a few of the many cases cared for by the society, while it will hold no meetings after June first, will, through the summer, provide the customary rents and milk as usual.

The Political Equality Club reported progress.

Mrs. Fessenden stated that the work of the Social Center Association would continue although housed in other quarters than the old Federation House. On Monday May 29, the sewing classes will be resumed for another year, the children gathering in a room at School No. 3. Miss Grace Holmes, teacher of sewing at the high school will help the volunteer workers to teach the children, and these classes will continue their efforts until School No. 3 shall be permitted to follow in the footsteps of the other schools having sewing classes. Nor will the Saturday Evening Club of older girls disband. They will hereafter meet at the different homes of the girls. Both changes mark a degree of social progress in the community.

Mrs. Basten, chairman of the membership committee, reported 59 bills sent out to individual members, and 50 returns of dues received, also dues from 8 clubs. Miss Van Keuren of the Press committee, stated that reports of all meetings had been sent to the various newspapers of the city.

MOTOR VEHICLE LAW CONVICTIONS MANY

In 18 Days 932 Persons Were Convicted, Nearly 52 a Day—Most of the Convictions For Speeding in New York City.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, May 22.—No less than 932 persons were convicted during the first eighteen days of this month for violations of the motor vehicle law of this state. Fines imposed aggregated $13,413, ranging all the way from $1 to $100. Of the total convictions 785, or 84 per cent, occurred in the courts of Greater New York. The activity of the metropolitan authorities in the enforcement of the motor vehicle law is strikingly shown from figures just compiled from the records of convictions now being kept under the direction of Secretary of State Hugo. The influence of the pleasant weather of the last three weeks is revealed in the fact that the convictions thus far in May nearly exceed the total during the months of March and April.

A desire to hit only the high spots brought 689 persons before the courts for conviction during the eighteen days. The records show that the New York courts do not mince matters in handing out fines, nine-tenths of the emulators of speed kings handing over $25 and upwards. In one instance a fine of $100 was imposed, the limit allowed by the Callan law. The greater part of the arrests and convictions for speeding occurred in New York. The records show that smaller fines prevailed in the upstate cities, some being as low as $5.

During the first half of the month, 23 persons with cars minus rear lights were convicted. Thirty-one were arrested for reckless driving and as a rule the records show heavy fines imposed. Twenty-nine did not bother to secure a license and were nabbed, 17 became entangled in the meshes of the law for running without lights. Stiff fines appear to be the rule for violations of the local ordinance requiring the autoist to stop where a street car is at a standstill.

Technical violations of the law, running all the way from inadequate brakes to a rear license plate swinging in the wind, resulted in 125 convictions during the last 18 days. A few persons got into trouble on account of using a number plate belonging to another or in rounding a corner without sounding a warning. In one case the records show that 20 days was meted out to an operator, who in an intoxicated condition was driving his car. Up to and including May 15, this year, 226,000 motor vehicles, including those of dealers, have been registered with Secretary of State Hugo as compared with 160,000 a year ago this time.

Hike to Lake Mohonk.

Saturday morning the girls of the G. A. A. of the high school awoke in the wee hours of the morning, rubbed their eyes, yawned, and proceeded to prepare for a day's trip to Lake Mohonk. They went by way of the Wallkill Valley, whose well intended jolts and jounces succeeded in getting them well awake by the time New Paltz was reached. From there some of the fair damsels rode through the triumphal gateway and on up the mountain while others, and these were far in the majority, walked the dusty by-way or better highway, and "strange to say these found that they were somewhat hungry when they reached the top. It was very inconvenient to carry those baskets of lunch all that way, but since the girls' time on the summit was equally divided between eating and seeing the beauties of the place, it was generally decided that lunch-carrying is a necessary evil. The "fat man's misery," and the narrow way to skytop held no terrors for these dauntless girls of basketball fame, and after mastering the hardships of the climb they at last wended their way down the other side of the mountain. Then after some discussion it was decided to return to the city via the O. & W. instead of walking those few extra miles. The happy, but it must be confessed weary party, reached home about eight o'clock in the evening and the day's trip was voted a great success. Among those who went were Ruth Humphrey, Josephine Schmid, Faith Safford, Helen Weber, Mary and Elizabeth Kingman, Elizabeth Ten-Brouck, Irene Joslovitz, Anna Cassidy and Miss Seigel.

Three Arrivals at the Jail.

Three boarders placed their names upon the register at the county hotel at No. 1313 Wall street, two from the town of Esopus and one from the town of Ulster. John Carney was brought to the jail from East Kingston on a warrant issued by Judge Mooney and will be held for a hearing.

William Burns, a former boarder at 1813 was brought to jail Saturday on a warrant issued by Judge McKenzie of Port Ewen. He will also be held until a date is fixed for a hearing in Judge McKenzie's court. Burns is alleged to have made threats of assaults and intent to kill. Lester Van Wagenen was also brought to the jail to await hearing on Tuesday on a charge of non-support.

Actor Employed Injured.

MR. STOKES MISSED CIRCUS PARADE

He Came from Highland Circus Day, But Spent too Much Time in a Thirst Emporium—Discovered Saturday Still Sleeping Off Jag.

Severin Stokes came all the way to Kingston from Highland on Friday to see the circus parade, but unfortunately the lure of a thirst emporium was too great and he wandered in to wash out some of the Highland dust that clogged his throat. After the dust had been sufficiently settled Mr. Stokes still continued to sample various grades of booze handled in Kingston, and missed the circus parade which was the real attraction that had brought him to Kingston.

This morning Mr. Stokes was arraigned before Recorder Lang on a charge of public intoxication. He told the story of his pilgrimage to this city, and confessed that he was intoxicated. He really could not remember where he slept Friday night, but he had a hazy recollection of meeting a few friends Saturday morning and at their request paid a visit to Rondout. He had never seen Rondout during the years he had spent on this planet, and after he had sampled a drink in a downtown saloon he forgot what Rondout looked like. In fact that was the last thing he remembered.

Although Mr. Stokes had forgotten it was brought out that Policeman Connelly while patrolling his beat on West Strand was startled by a series of strange noises at the foot of the Company hill. He investigated and found Mr. Stokes asleep on his back with his mouth wide open, and emitting the startling noises that attracted the officer's attention.

Recorder Lang after looking Mr. Stokes over closely sentenced him to 60 days in the county jail. It might be added that while Mr. Stokes is not well acquainted with Rondout he has more than a passing acquaintance with 1813 Wall street.

STEARNS THOUGHT HE WAS PURCHASING

Said He Hid in Police Commissioner Zeeb's Yard to Escape Four Men—Too Much Joy Juice Proved His Undoing.

Saturday evening Police Commissioner Peter P. Zeeb saw a strange man lurking in the backyard of his bottling plant on West Union street and notified Policeman James V. Simpson who placed the stranger under arrest. It developed later that the stranger's name was Fred Stearns of Nyack. He had been working on the steamer Ramsdell, but lately had been drinking too much joy juice. Saturday evening he said he thought he was pursued by four men who were about to beat him up, but being feeter of foot he escaped them. He knew no reason why the men should beat him, but they were going to do so. Sunday when he woke up in jail he said he thought he was in New York, and it was not until he was brought before Recorder Lang this morning that he realized he was still in Kingston. He was given 30 days in jail to sober up.

HIGH SCHOOL IN BIG PARADE

Stimulated by a quiet but very effective address of Captain Meagher, of Company M, the high school boys this morning were thoroughly aroused to the spirit of the coming Memorial Day parade.

Captain Meagher spoke but a very few minutes but accomplished a great deal in the short space of time he took, for a few days ago only some 100 or so boys volunteered when asked to march, and this morning practically all the resident students pledged their support.

The students were very kindly offered the assistance of members of the company in sizing up their ranks and a plan was suggested of having a battalion of four companies of students, each company representing the students of a certain year in school.

A few words were then said regarding the military training that is coming into the school course this fall throughout the state, and the demonstration this morning gives practical assurance of the support this movement will receive.

This morning they were arraigned before Recorder Lang, who imposed a fine of $5 each, which they paid. He informed them that shooting crap on the streets must be stopped. It is understood that all crap shooters caught in the future will be severely fined if found guilty.

MOTHER ASKS FOR HER BOY IN COURT

A motion to restore George Klein to the custody of his mother, Annie Renske, was made before Judge Hasbrouck on Saturday. The child is now an inmate of the New York State Agricultural and Industrial School at Industry, Monroe county, N. Y., to which he was committed some time ago by a justice of the peace at Hempstead, Long Island, on the complaint of his step-father, Joseph Renske.

The boy formerly was employed as a caddy at the Garden City Golf Club links, where he earned $4 to $5 a week which was used for the support of his mother and other members of the family. His father was dead and his mother re-married, her second husband being Joseph Renske. The step-father, according to Mrs. Renske's petition, made a complaint against the boy when he refused to turn over the weekly earnings to him, and in his complaint on which the boy was sent to the Industrial School, stated that the boy had left his home, that he attended moving picture shows and other amusements without permission, and that he was unruly.

Mrs. Renske states that the boy was put out of the house by his step-father, and that she continued to feed him at home during the day but at night he was compelled to seek refuge with friends. With her permission he attended a moving picture show, where the step-father found him. She and her husband have now separated and she wants the boy returned to her. Willard Griffiths of Hempstead appeared for Mrs. Renske.

District Attorney Traver appeared in opposition to the motion at the request of the superintendent of the Industrial School, who had forwarded the papers to him Saturday. Mr. Traver said there was no authority for the proceeding, that the court was being asked to review the judgment of the Children's Court of Nassau county which could be done only by appeal or habeas corpus, and if the latter was the remedy, there was no allegation on the papers regarding the commitment, which was necessary in order to bring the matter before the court. Judge Hasbrouck directed that briefs be filed and reserved decision.

Keen Eye for an Eighth.

Supervisor W. D. Coons, Jr. and two other fishermen of Shandaken were stopped on the stream by Game Protector DeSilva last Sunday, who examined their baskets. He found one trout in the basket of Supervisor Coons that measured 5 1/8 inches. We understand Mr. Coons claims the trout when caught measured six inches. This is pretty close work but great is the power of the state of New York with Joe DeSilva at the helm.—Pine Hill Sentinel.

Stokes Admitted to Bail.

Abram Stokes, a former employee of the Nitro Powder Company at Mingo Hollow, who was committed to the county jail a few days ago to await the action of the grand jury, charged with blowing up or attempting to blow up the dynamite works, was admitted to bail Saturday upon application of ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier. Eltinge Longyear of Edinville, the Broadway plumber, went on his bond.

Youngster Felt Lonely.

On account of the crowded condition of the street car, my small nephew and I were obliged to take seats on opposite sides of the aisle, says a writer in an exchange. His place was between two extremely well nourished women, who, when they got off the car together after riding a few blocks, left what must have seemed to my tiny relative, a great space each side of him. He aroused me from the newspaper in which I had become absorbed, and amused the passengers near us by calling to me in a lonesome tone, "Auntie, won't you please come over here and take care of me?"

DAINTY MEALS FOR SMALL FAMILIES.

As we all learn from sad experience, roasts are not satisfactory bought in small quantities and no family enjoys beef, mutton or chicken three or four days in succession; neither does the frugal housewife wish to waste good food.

To make a successful caterer for a small family attention must be paid to the marketing and arrangement of quantities.

If one arranges to have guests for luncheon, after having a chicken dinner, the chicken may be used in patties, or salad or as chicken croquettes. Thus one may entertain without feeling any special drain on the living expenses. A varied diet may always be given, as broths may be made from the bones of the aforesaid chicken for the next day's luncheon, following with a dish of macaroni and cheese or spaghetti and tomato sauce, thus having a soup and an entree at slight expense.

A can of corn may be opened and part of it used as a vegetable with milk or cream, then a few days later prepare it with egg, a cupful of white sauce and seasonings of mustard, salt, Worcestershire sauce and pepper into an escalloped dish, to serve either as a main dish at luncheon or as a vegetable at dinner. Such dishes as veal birds or olives are attractive and made from small bits of meat. Flatten them by beating, roll up with a piece of bacon or salt pork and bread crumbs brown in a hot frying pan, then add cream and simmer until tender.

Green peppers stuffed with chopped meat, sausage or nuts and crumbs and baked are especially well liked.

A head of cabbage may be cut in half and a part used for cold slaw or with cream, sugar and vinegar, and the other half cooked and served with a white sauce and cheese making another wholesome nutritious luncheon dish.

Cucumbers too old for slicing may be cooked after crisping in cold water and served as one does asparagus.

He was always prepared on the question, and that being answered felt no further interest in the lesson. Tom was away one Sunday. On the Sunday following the teacher asked, "Where were you last Sunday, Tom?" and he answered mechanically, "Nine miles southwest of Jerusalem."—Christian Herald.

A strange young man awoke early Sunday morning in Forsyth Park on Lucas avenue, and as he rubbed his forehead in wonderment as to how he got there he searched his pockets for a handkerchief to wipe the dew from his face, and made the discovery that his money was gone. That fact brought him wide awake and he scratched his head perplexedly as he thought over the events of the night before with the result that he shortly came to the conclusion that his beautiful red headed friend had "done" him.

It seems that while he was very well acquainted uptown, he had never seen the lower section of the city, and he decided Saturday evening to investigate and see what lay in store below the Broadway hill. So he stuffed $65 in his pockets and sallied forth.

He had just descended the hill when on the opposite side of the street he saw a vision with red hair walking down, and as he viewed her beautiful tresses from the other side of the street he decided that a nearer view would not affect his eyes and crossed over.

It did not take long to scrape acquaintance with the red haired siren, and after they had gotten below the hill he suggested that they have something to drink. She assented and they entered a thirst parlor, where they had a few beers.

Whenever he drank anything it always made him hungry and as his fair companion said that she could eat something too they entered a lunch room, where the stranger disposed of a dozen egg sandwiches while his fair haired one looked on in amazement.

Just what occurred after that the stranger did not know, except that they had a few more drinks. At least he had the drinks.

Then in a casual sort of a way the red haired one asked him if he had seen the city's new park.

"Kingston Park?" he inquired.

"Oh, no," was the reply. "Forsyth Park."

He said he had not, and as it was a beautiful moonlight night he engaged a taxi and they rode up as far as North Front street, and from there walked over to the park.

What occurred next the stranger did not remember, but he had a hazy recollection of falling asleep on the bench with his arm around the siren's dainty waist while her glorious tresses reposed against his shirt bosom.

Then he awoke Sunday morning and found both red hair and money missing.

He later told his tale of woe to the police with the result that they interviewed the red haired one and she returned $4 which she said was all the money she had taken from the stranger.

What became of the rest of the stranger's roll is a mystery.

A Cargo Hard to Handle.

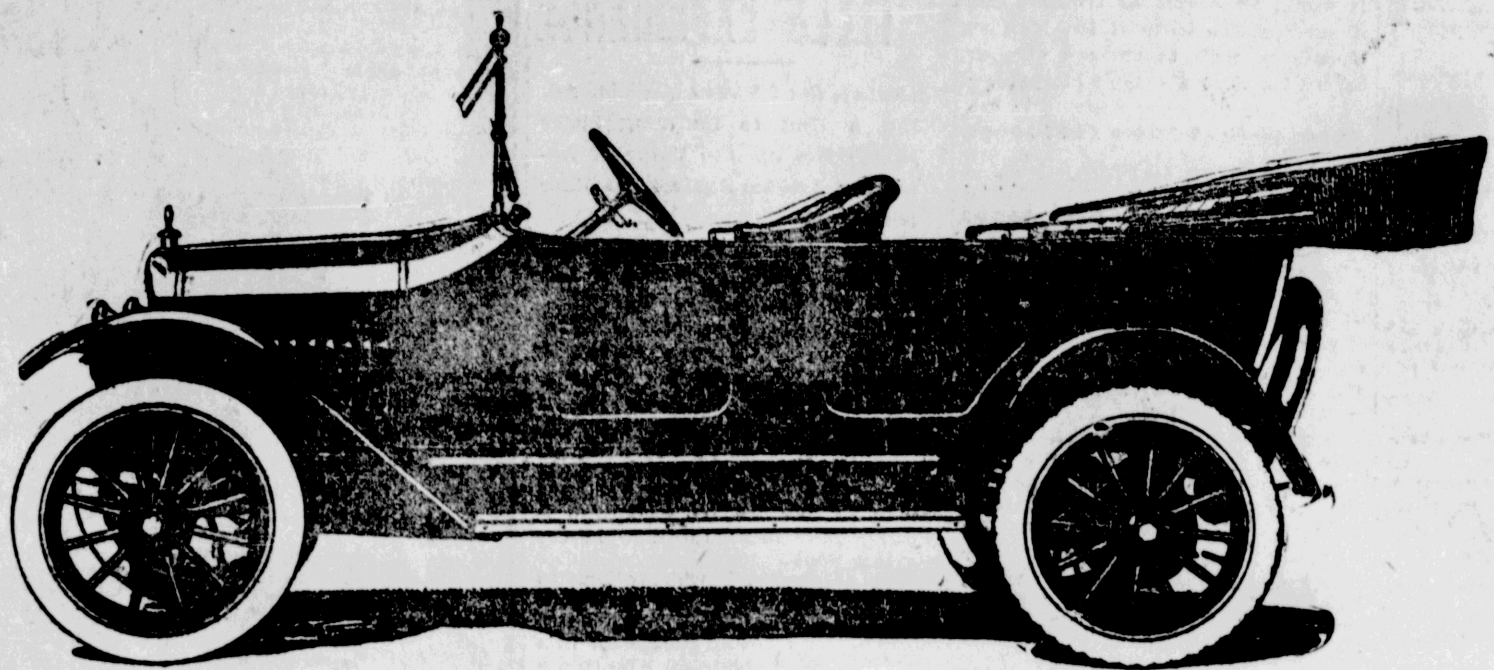

Asphalt is said to be the most difficult cargo for a vessel to unload. The asphalt is taken out of the asphalt lakes in Trinidad in a semifluid state and by the time the vessel reaches a northern port has hardened, so that to unload it it is necessary for the men to go into the hold and dig it out with pick and shovel. This takes time, and a vessel carrying such cargo always has to arrange for a considerable stay in port.

As Many Know.

"Can I sell you any thermometers today?"
"No, nor any other day. There is a little person in the kitchen who attends to all that sort of thing. She makes it hot or cold as it suits her."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Had His Preference.

Hospitable Farmer—Now, stranger, sit right down to the table. You are welcome to your dinner, but you'll have to eat what the rest of us do. Stranger—Thanks, but I—er—if it's all the same to you I'll eat what the rest of you don't.

Pronounced to be the Height of ExcellenceRED MONOGRAM AND SPECIAL STOCK*Why You Should Own a Maxwell*Comfort

First, because it is a comfortable riding car. Plenty of room for five people; deep, soft cushions; springs made of the best spring steel, scientifically heat-treated, accurately suspended and balanced. You will always be comfortable in a Maxwell.

Appearance

Second, because the Maxwell is a trim, smart, good-looking car.

Many makers of heavy, high priced cars, as you know, have copied the general lines, the shape of the body and hood of the Maxwell. This is more of a compliment than an infringement.

Service

Third, because the Maxwell, being a product of thirteen years evolution, is so designed and manufactured that it gives unfailing, consistent and satisfying service to thousands of owners.

Maxwell cars are made of the best materials that money and brains can buy—and they are made right. You can get out of any car only what is put into it.

Low First-Cost

Fourth, because you get everything in a Maxwell that you can get in any car and you get it for less money.

The answer to this is that the Maxwell is a light car and it is built in enormous quantities. The Maxwell Co. is one of the three largest producers of high grade motor cars in the world.

Low After-Cost

Fifth, because the Maxwell will give you more miles per dollar than any car built.

We say this without hesitation or doubt. It is our honest belief and we are willing to prove it by Maxwell owners, by comparison with any other car or by any other way you suggest or prefer.

The Maxwell will please you. We know it will. Let us arrange for a demonstration and we'll take the responsibility of satisfying you completely.

Time Payments if Desired*Greatest Joys Are Simple.

"The joys that are bought with money are worth nothing compared with the joys that, though sweet and gentle and unassuming, are yet deep, enduring and quieting; the joys that enlarge the heart instead of diminishing it, and which we too often pass by—somewhat in the manner of those peasants whom one sees in an ecstasy over the fireworks at some fête, and who pay not the smallest attention to the splendor of a summer night.—Sabbatier.

Device Takes Place of Nets.

One way of catching larvae is by driving nails into a board so that they stick out several inches. The boards are then dragged through the shoals and the fish catch between the nails and are pulled by the boardful into the boats. In one year more than 1,000,000 pounds of herring were caught at Prince Rupert and frozen by the cold storage plants to be sold for bait. Something like 125,000 pounds of codfish are annually taken for the same purpose.—The Christian Herald.

Metals Free From Bacteria.

As it has been uncertain whether bacteria can exist on such metals as copper and silver, Natonek and Reimann of Czernowitz, have made an interesting test. Perfectly clean coins were placed on a plate of nutrient gelatine for several hours, and after their removal bacteria were seen over the plate. The spot where each coin had lain, with a narrow border around it, remained free from the growth that spread over the rest of the plate.

Age Not Always a Remedy for Squint.

It is a popular superstition that a child will grow out of a squint. This is true in some cases—those of the temporary squint of infants, for instance, but even then, according to the British Journal of Children's Diseases, it should be a warning that the brain's control over the eyes is weak and that when the child goes to school or has a serious illness the squint may become permanent. Even if the eye be straightened it will have lost its power of vision.

Sustenance in Nettles.

Nettles good human food? Of course! They have been known as such immemorably in thrifty Switzerland and other careful countries. There is no better rival to spinach in the whole vegetable kingdom. And the nettle ought to be utilized, it does so abound. It is the one weed, almost the only one, that grows in all countries under the sun, so say gardeners who fight it year by year and have never taken the right revenge of eating it.—London Chronicle.

MOTHER ASKS FOR HER BOY IN COURT

A motion to restore George Klein to the custody of his mother, Annie Renske, was made before Judge Hasbrouck on Saturday. The child is now an inmate of the New York State Agricultural and Industrial School at Industry, Monroe county, N. Y., to which he was committed some time ago by a justice of the peace at Hempstead, Long Island, on the complaint of his step-father, Joseph Renske.

The boy formerly was employed as a caddy at the Garden City Golf Club links, where he earned $4 to $5 a week which was used for the support of his mother and other members of the family. His father was dead and his mother re-married, her second husband being Joseph Renske. The step-father, according to Mrs. Renske's petition, made a complaint against the boy when he refused to turn over the weekly earnings to him, and in his complaint on which the boy was sent to the Industrial School, stated that the boy had left his home, that he attended moving picture shows and other amusements without permission, and that he was unruly.

Mrs. Renske states that the boy was put out of the house by his step-father, and that she continued to feed him at home during the day but at night he was compelled to seek refuge with friends. With her permission he attended a moving picture show, where the step-father found him. She and her husband have now separated and she wants the boy returned to her. Willard Griffiths of Hempstead appeared for Mrs. Renske.

District Attorney Traver appeared in opposition to the motion at the request of the superintendent of the industrial school, who was forwarded the papers to him Saturday. Mr. Traver said there was no authority for the proceeding, that the court was being asked to review the judgment of the Children's Court of Nassau county which could be done only by appeal or habeas corpus, and if the latter was the remedy, there was no allegation on the papers regarding the commitment, which was necessary in order to bring the matter before the court. Judge Hasbrouck directed that briefs be filed and reserved decision.

Keen Eye for an Eighth.

Supervisor W. D. Coons, Jr. and two other fishermen of Shandaken were stopped on the stream by Game Protector DeSilva last Sunday, who examined their baskets. He found one trout in the basket of Supervisor Coons that measured 5 7/8 inches. We understand Mr. Coons claims the trout when caught measured six inches. This is pretty close work but great is the power of the state of New York with Joe DeSilva at the helm.—Pine Hill Sentinel.

Stokes Admitted to Bail.

Abram Stokes, a former employee of the Nitro Powder Company at Mingo Hollow, who was committed to the county jail a few days ago to await the action of the grand jury, charged with blowing up or attempting to blow up the dynamite works, was admitted to bail Saturday upon application of ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier. Eltinge Longyear of Edenville, the Broadway plumber, went on his bond.

Youngster Felt Lonely.

On account of the crowded condition of the street car, my small nephew and I were obliged to take seats on opposite sides of the aisle, says a writer in an exchange. His place was between two extremely well nourished women, who, when they got off the car together after riding a few blocks, left what must have seemed to my tiny relative, a great space each side of him. He aroused me from the newspaper in which I had become absorbed, and amused the passengers near us by calling to me in a homesome tone, 'Auntie, won't you please come over here and take care of me?'

DAINTY MEALS FOR SMALL FAMILIES.

As we all learn from sad experience, roasts are not satisfactory bought in small quantities and no family enjoys beef, mutton or chicken three or four days in succession; neither does the frugal housewife wish to waste good food.

To make a successful caterer for a small family attention must be paid to the marketing and arrangement of quantities.

If one arranges to have guests for luncheon, after having a chicken dinner, the chicken may be used in patties, or salad or as chicken croquettes. Thus one may entertain without feeling any special drain on the living expenses. A varied diet may always be given, as broths may be made from the bones of the aforesaid chicken for the next day's luncheon, following with a dish of macaroni and cheese or spaghetti and tomato sauce, thus having a soup and an entree at slight expense.

A can of corn may be opened and part of it used as a vegetable with milk or cream, then a few days later prepare it with egg, a cupful of white sauce and seasonings of mustard, salt, Worcestershire sauce and pepper into an escalloped dish to serve either as a main dish at luncheon or as a vegetable at dinner. Such dishes as veal birds or olives are attractive and made from small bits of meat. Flatten them by beating, roll up with a piece of bacon or salt pork and bread crumbs brown in a hot frying pan, then add cream and simmer until tender.

Green peppers stuffed with chopped meat, sausage or nuts and crumbs and baked are especially well liked.

A head of cabbage may be cut in half and a part used for cold slaw or with cream, sugar and vinegar, and the other half cooked and served with a white sauce and cheese making another wholesome nutritious luncheon dish.

Cucumbers too old for slicing may be cooked after crisping in cold water and served as one does asparagus.

Nine Miles Southwest of Jerusalem.

The story is told of a teacher who was accustomed to ask the same question of the same scholar each Sunday. Tom always had the question, 'Where is the lesson located?' He was always prepared on the question, and that being answered felt no further interest in the lesson. Tom was away one Sunday. On the Sunday following the teacher asked, 'Where were you last Sunday, Tom?' and he answered mechanically: 'Nine miles southwest of Jerusalem.'—Christian Herald.

Colonel Roosevelt has put his hand to the steering wheel of Henry Ford's pacifist flivver and ruffled up the feathers of the Dove of Peace in the Detroit home roost by a characteristic utterance on Preparedness. Aside from the merits of this latter question, the new phase to the controversy affords a peep into presidential politics. The real spectacle is the International Harvester and the Ford tractor locking horns, if the mental carburettor can stand the mixture of metaphor, a sight which is good for sore eyes long dazzled by the illumination incident to the Preparedness parade route of the Progressive party's come-back. Whether Brother Ford will turn the other cheek in true Pacifist fashion or whether he will explode with a little backfire all his own is an interesting subject for speculation. Timid Congressmen have always intimated that alleged bellicose threats of retaliation by Ford made their positions wobbly on army reorganization, which may indicate a degree of preparedness for eventualities on the part of peace advocates. Indeed, when one stops to consider the number of Ford machines met upon the highways and imagine each

MURPHY WINS INSURANCE CASE

Judge Jenkins has handed down a decision in the suit brought by Nicholas D. J. Murphy against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to recover on a policy of insurance issued on the life of Sarah Jones, which the company refused to pay because of alleged irregularities although it had accepted the premiums from Mr. Murphy. Judge Jenkins finds in favor of Murphy.

The case was tried some time ago. Judge N. Frank O'Reilly appearing for Murphy and Brimner & Canfield for the insurance company.

Judge Jenkins' opinion, which sets forth the facts fully, is as follows:

On the 18th day of February, 1895, the defendant issued an insurance policy on the life of Sarah Jones in consideration of a weekly payment of fifteen cents. Mary A. West, daughter of the assured, was named as beneficiary in the policy. She died before her mother, and shortly after her death Sarah Jones assigned the policy to John J. Murphy by an assignment in writing. He remained in possession of the policy and paid the premiums until his death. The plaintiff, Nicholas D. J. Murphy, was appointed administrator of his estate. He told the assured that he could not keep up the policy as administrator, and returned the same with the assignment thereof to the insured. She paid on the policy for some time and finally brought it back to the plaintiff, stating that she could not keep it up and requested him to take it and upon her death to collect the proceeds and bury her. He promised so to do and took possession of the policy. The premiums have been paid. Defendant disputes the right of the plaintiff to recover in this action upon several grounds, among others being that he is not the administrator of the assured; that he is not a beneficiary named in the policy; that he can have no interest therein except by assignment, and that by the terms of the contract of insurance such assignment makes it void. The assignment is also denied.

If there has been no assignment of this policy then the proper person to bring the action would have been the legal representative of the assured. If the title to the policy remained in John J. Murphy at the time of his maturity, then this action should have been brought by the plaintiff in his representative capacity. If there is a legal assignment to the plaintiff, then the action is properly brought in his name.

If the plaintiff had a valid claim against the estate of the assured for burying her, he was eligible to the appointment of administrator of the estate, and upon securing letters could have brought an action in that capacity against the defendant; or, if the title was in John J. Murphy at the time of his death by virtue of the written assignment to him, and plaintiff had not assumed it he could have brought his action in his representative capacity as administrator of John J. Murphy, but if the facts here prove an assignment of the policy to John J. Murphy in his lifetime, a re-assignment from the plaintiff as administrator of John J. Murphy to the insured, and an assignment by the insured to this plaintiff, then this action is properly brought by the plaintiff. The plaintiff has always maintained that he was the owner of the policy by virtue of transactions resulting in the transfer of the legal title thereof to himself.

The three things to be determined here, are:

First. Did the plaintiff become the legal owner of the policy of insurance by assignment?

Second. If there was such an assignment, did it not, under the terms of the policy make the policy void?

Third. If an assignment worked a forfeiture, is the defendant estopped from relying upon such a defense?

The evidence relating to the alleged assignment of the policy in suit is, that Sarah Jones, some time in 1895, which is about ten years after the issuing of the policy by the defendant to her, had a conversation with John J. Murphy in the presence of the plaintiff in which she said that her daughter had died and that it was impossible for her to keep up the policy any longer and that she wanted the plaintiff's father to keep it up. That was after he had buried her daughter, and at the time she came to pay him for the funeral expenses. She had the policy with her and requested plaintiff's father to take it over and pay the premiums in consideration of which he was to bury her. He promised he would, and an assignment of the policy was prepared by the plaintiff, executed by Sarah Jones and witnessed by the plaintiff. The policy and assignment thereupon came into possession of the plaintiff's father who died some time in 1911, in possession of them. During the interval between the assignment of the policy and his death, a period of five or six years, plaintiff's father paid the premiums on the policy to the defendant. On or about the 17th of May, 1911, plaintiff was appointed administrator of his father's estate and thereby came into possession of the policy and the assignment. While acting as such administrator, the plaintiff had a conversation with Sarah Jones, the assured, in which he said he would not be able to keep the policy up as administrator, and gave it back to her with the assignment. After he had kept the policy for a short time and made some payments thereon, she returned it to the plaintiff and stated it was impossible for her to pay any longer; that she did not want to be buried a pauper and unless the policy was kept up she would be buried as such; after which statement the plaintiff in company with Sarah Jones, went to the office of the defendant in the city of Kingston, and had a conversation with Fred J. Williams, at that time the general agent of the defendant in the city of Kingston. It seems she there expressed her desire to have the plaintiff made beneficiary under the policy, and Superintendent Williams said it was not necessary, that if the plaintiff paid the premium it would entitle him to collect the policy after the death of the insured.

The plaintiff told Mr. Williams at the time, that he did not want the policy as administrator of his father's estate, but wanted the assignment personally. Mr. Williams said that would be all right, that whoever paid the premiums would be the one that could collect on the policy, whereupon Sarah Jones told the defendant to call on the plaintiff for premiums and the plaintiff agreed to pay them. Plaintiff did pay premiums until Sarah Jones reached the age of seventy-five years, at which time the policy in effect became a paid-up policy.

The premiums were paid by the plaintiff until May 27, 1912. The policy and the assignment to John J. Murphy were delivered to Sarah Jones by the plaintiff. This is briefly the evidence which the plaintiff claims proves title in him. A policy of insurance payable to a representative of the insured is a chose in action capable of assignment, which assignment may be oral, if accompanied by delivery of the policy.

Hartnett vs. Prudential Insurance Co., 13 A. D., 435.
Griffin vs. Prudential Insurance Co., 43 A. D., 499.
To refute the evidence of the assignment of the policy to the plaintiff, the defendant introduced in evidence an application dated July 31, 1913, made by Sarah Jones to the defendant, to replace the original insurance policy herein, upon the ground that such original had been lost, in which application said Sarah Jones states that she is the owner of the policy. Defendant also introduced a certificate to the effect that said Sarah Jones was in possession of the premium receipt book and that she was the person who paid the premiums for many years and months, made by C. J. Weber, agent-superintendent.

The plaintiff knew of this application and the statement therein contained, and procured Sarah Jones to make the application. He says he did not sign the application but he had her sign it. After the certificate of the lost policy was issued it came into the possession of the plaintiff. To explain the application for the lost policy certificate being made by Sarah Jones, the plaintiff testified on re-direct examination that she was sick and sent for him, and asked him if her insurance was all right. She expressed her fear of being buried a pauper, whereupon the plaintiff says he went back to the office to see if the insurance was all right, and could not find the policy. He then notified the company and it told him that he would have to produce the insured. He said she was very ill and thought it better to report and get a duplicate before she died. The superintendent sent the agent down to get her to sign the application. He says he told her it was all right to sign it, it was simply a matter of form, and plaintiff paid ten cents for the certificate. The defendant refused to issue a certificate unless the application was signed by Sarah Jones. When it was issued it was delivered to the plaintiff by the agent of the defendant.

I conclude that the plaintiff became the owner of the policy of insurance through assignment. Sarah Jones died June 17, 1915, and the plaintiff, who is an undertaker, buried her and has not been paid for such burial.

There is a provision in this policy that it will become void by an assignment thereof. I assume this provision valid and binding. Such provision in a policy of fire insurance before maturity against assignment is legal although a provision against assignment after maturity would be considered of no force, as being against public policy.

Assuming this provision against assignment valid, the insured having assigned the policy, no recovery can be had thereunder unless the defendant is estopped from enforcing such provision. I think the defendant waived the provision in the contract against assignment, as he is estopped from using it as a defense to the action.

It appears that the general agent of the company, Mr. Williams, advised the plaintiff to pay the premiums to the defendant. Plaintiff, acting under this advice, paid them.

There is a provision in the policy which provides as follows: "Forfeiture. Agents and assistant superintendents are not authorized and have no power to make, alter or discharge contracts, or waive forfeitures, or to receive premiums on policies in arrears more than four weeks, or to receipt for the same in the receipt book, and all such arrears given to an agent shall be at the sole risk of those who pay them and shall not be credited upon the policy, whether entered in the receipt book or not." The defendant sought to protect itself, against waiver and estoppel growing out of payment of premiums to agents after a policy had become forfeited by arrears, but it has not made any like provision against payment to agents upon a policy assigned contrary to the terms thereof. Expressly providing against waiver and estoppel in cases of payment to agents on policies in arrears, and not in cases of payments upon assigned policies, strengthens the contention of the plaintiff that the general agent of the defendant was authorized to waive such provision and accept premiums on the policy.

Furthermore, "Notice of facts to an agent is constructive notice thereof to the principal himself," where it arises from, or is at the time connected with, the subject-matter of his agency; for, upon general principles of public policy, it is presumed that the agent has communicated such facts to the principal; and if he has not, still the principal, having entrusted the agent with the particular business, the other party has a right to deem his acts and knowledge obligatory upon the principal.

Story on Agency, section 140, as quoted in McEllan vs. Metropolitan Insurance Co., 217 N. Y., 336, at page 347.

I think under the principles announced in the case last cited, the defendant is charged with notice of the assignment of the policy to the plaintiff. With such notice, it received premiums from the plaintiff.

RED HEADED SIREN GOT HIS ROLL

Attracted by the Color of Her Beautiful Tresses he Scraped Acquaintance With Her—Now He is Sorry That he Met Her.

A strange young man awoke early Sunday morning in Foreyth Park on Lucas avenue, and as he rubbed his forehead in wonderment as to how he got there he searched his pockets for a handkerchief to wipe the dew from his face, and made the discovery that his money was gone. That fact brought him wide awake and he scratched his head perplexedly as he thought over the events of the night before with the result that he shortly came to the conclusion that his beautiful red headed friend had "done" him.

It seems that while he was very well acquainted uptown, he had never seen the lower section of the city, and he decided Saturday evening to investigate and see what lay in store below the Broadway hill. So he stuffed $65 in his pockets and sallied forth.

He had just descended the hill when on the opposite side of the street he saw a vision with red hair walking down, and as he viewed her beautiful tresses from the other side of the street he decided that a nearer view would not affect his eyes and crossed over.

It did not take long to scrape acquaintance with the red haired siren, and after they had gotten below the hill he suggested that they have something to drink. She assented and they entered a thirst parlor, where they had a few beers.

Whenever he drank anything it always made him hungry and as his fair companion said that she could eat something too they entered a lunch room, where the stranger disposed of a dozen egg sandwiches while his fair haired one looked on in amazement.

Just what occurred after that the stranger did not know, except that they had a few more drinks. At least he had the drinks.

Then in a casual sort of a way the red haired one asked him if he had seen the city's new park.

"Kingston Park?" he inquired.

"Oh, no," was the reply. "Foreyth Park."

He said he had not, and as it was a beautiful moonlight night he engaged a taxi and they rode up as far as North Front street, and from there walked over to the park.

What occurred next the stranger did not remember, but he had a hazy recollection of falling asleep on the bench with his arm around the siren's dainty waist while her glorious tresses reposed against his shirt bosom.

Then he awoke Sunday morning and found both red hair and money missing.

He later told his tale of woe to the police with the result that they interviewed the red haired one and she returned $4 which she said was all the money she had taken from the stranger.

What became of the rest of the stranger's roll is a mystery.

A Cargo Hard to Handle.

Asphalt is said to be the most difficult cargo for a vessel to unload. The asphalt is taken out of the asphalt lakes in Trinidad in a semifluid state and by the time the vessel reaches a northern port has hardened, so that to unload it is necessary for the men to go into the hold and dig it out with pick and shovel. This takes time, and a vessel carrying such cargo always has to arrange for a considerable stay in port.

As Many Know.

"Can I sell you any thermometers today?"

Greatest Joys Are Simple.

"The joys that are bought with money are worth nothing compared with the joys that, though sweet and gentle and unassuming, are yet deep, enduring and quieting; the joys that enlarge the heart instead of diminishing it, and which we too often pass by—somewhat in the manner of those passants whom one sees in an ecstasy over the fireworks at some fête, and who pay not the smallest attention to the splendor of a summer night."—Sabbatier.

Why You Should Own a Maxwell*Comfort

First, because it is a comfortable riding car. Plenty of room for five people; deep, soft cushions; springs made of the best spring steel, scientifically heat-treated, accurately suspended and balanced. You will always be comfortable in a Maxwell.

Appearance

Second, because the Maxwell is a trim, smart, good-looking car.

Many makers of heavy, high priced cars, as you know, have copied the general lines, the shape of the body and hood of the Maxwell. This is more of a compliment than an infringement.

Service

Third, because the Maxwell, being a product of thirteen years evolution, is so designed and manufactured that it gives unfailing, consistent and satisfying service to thousands of owners.

Maxwell cars are made of the best materials that money and brains can buy—and they are made right. You can get out of any car only what is put into it.

Low First-Cost

Fourth, because you get everything in a Maxwell that you can get in any car and you get it for less money.

The answer to this is that the Maxwell is a light car and it is built in enormous quantities. The Maxwell Co. is one of the three largest producers of high grade motor cars in the world.

Low After-Cost

Fifth, because the Maxwell will give you more miles per dollar than any car built.

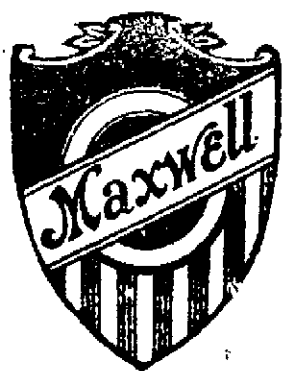

We say this without hesitation or doubt. It is our honest belief and we are willing to prove it by Maxwell owners, by comparison with any other car or by any other way you suggest or prefer.

Greatest Joys Are Simple.

"The joys that are bought with money are worth nothing compared with the joys that, though sweet and gentle and unassuming, are yet deep, enduring and quieting; the joys that enlarge the heart instead of diminishing it, and which we too often pass by—somewhat in the manner of those passants whom one sees in an ecstasy over the fireworks at some fête, and who pay not the smallest attention to the splendor of a summer night."—Sabbatier.

Device Takes Place of Nets.

One way of catching herring is by driving nails into a board so that they stick out several inches. The boards are then dragged through the shoals and the fish catch between the nails and are pulled by the boardful into the boats. In one year more than 1,000,000 pounds of herring were caught at Prince Rupert and frozen by the cold storage plants to be sold for bait. Something like 125,000 pounds of cod fish are annually taken for the same purpose.—The Christian Herald.

Metals Free From Bacteria.

As it has been uncertain whether bacteria can exist on such metals as copper and silver, Natonek and Reimann of Czernowitz, have made an interesting test. Perfectly clean coins were placed on a plate of nutrient gelatine for several hours, and after their removal bacteria were seen over the plate. The spot where each coin had lain, with a narrow border around it, remained free from the growth that spread over the rest of the plate.

Age Not Always a Remedy for Squint.

It is a popular superstition that a child will grow out of a squint. This is true in some cases—those of the temporary squint of infants, for instance, but even then, according to the British Journal of Children's Diseases, it should be a warning that the brain's control over the eyes is weak and that when the child goes to school or has a serious illness the squint may become permanent. Even if the eye be straightened it will have lost its power of vision.

Sustenance in Nettles.

Nettles good human food? Of course! They have been known as such immemorially in thrifty Switzerland and other careful countries. There is no better rival to spinach in the whole vegetable kingdom. And the nettle ought to be utilized, it does so abound. It is the one weed, almost the only one, that grows in all countries under the sun, so say gardeners who fight it year by year and have never taken the right revenge of eating it.—London Chronicle.

FISCHER'S NEW THEATER PLANS

Broadway Frontage of Casino Lot Will be Sold and Theater Erected in the Rear.

Work of tearing down the ruins of the Broadway Casino was begun last week and the property will be cleared up within the next few days and the site will be used for the erection of a modern ground floor theater. The plans for the theater building were described in The Freeman some time ago but these plans will probably be slightly altered according to a statement given out by Mr. Fischer.

The property has a frontage of 160 feet on Broadway and a depth of 150 feet and it is the present plans of Mr. Fischer to divide the front of the property into eight building lots 20x70 feet deep. These lots are to be sold at public auction on Saturday to the highest bidders and business houses may be erected upon them. In the rear of these lots Mr. Fischer will retain a property 80x

160 feet upon which he will erect the proposed theater building. One of the lots on Broadway will be retained for an entrance to the theater lobby. This plan has been adopted in other cities where the frontage along a street is very valuable.

The lots on Broadway will be sold either singly or in one parcel and will afford merchants wishing to establish branches near the West Shore an excellent location to secure a property on Broadway, while the plan will in no way interfere with the erection of the theater.

NEGRO FIGHTER USED A KNIFE

Fight Staged in Saloon at Kingston Point—One Negro Carved about the Face Saturday Night—Slasher Sent to Jail.

Saturday night Gus Riddick, a negro, was badly slashed about the face with a knife in the hands of another negro, Blanch Mansfield. The slasher made his escape but was later caught and taken to jail. From the story as told this morning when Mansfield was arraigned before Recorder Lang the slashed negro was dancing with "his girl" and Mansfield made some remark. This was in Guadagnola's saloon on North street. The remark was followed by a fight in which Riddick came out second best as Blanch drew a large jack knife and used it to such advantage that Riddick was carved severely about the face and it was necessary to have Dr. O'Leary take a half a dozen stitches in Riddick's face. After the scrap Policemen Boyd and O'Sell searched the premises and vicinity for Mansfield, but he had escaped. Later in the night Policemen Shader caught Mansfield as he was about to board a train at the West Shore station. He searched Mansfield and found the blood stained knife in his pocket. This morning Mansfield pleaded guilty to assault and was sentenced to six months in jail by Recorder Lang. Riddick, with his face all bandaged up, appeared in court to press the charge against Blanch. Both negroes are employed on the brickyards at East Kingston.

County Officers Visit W. C. T. U.

Those who attended the W. C. T. U. meeting on Thursday, May 18, held in the parlor of St. James's M. E. Church, were greatly favored, as three of the county officers were present. Mrs. Martha E. Bell, of Milton, county president, was in town on business in regard to the legacy to the County W. C. T. U. given by the late John R. Hunt of Ellenville, whereby a sum of money was bequeathed to the organization, for the purpose of building county headquarters at Ellenville. Mrs. J. R. Hunt was for many years the loved and trusted county treasurer of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Bell was accompanied by Mrs. J. D. Rose of Highland, the corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Schofield, secretary of literature. Mrs. Bell spoke briefly of her errand to Kingston, and Mrs. Rose very ably spoke of the department work of the local unions and that the success of the cause depends very largely upon the faithful local superintendents, who, each in her own small corner strive to carry on the work of her department faithfully and report results to the county superintendent. The visitors were very welcome and we hope to see them again.

LIBERTY comes only in long, silky shreds, because only long, unbroken leaf is used in making it.

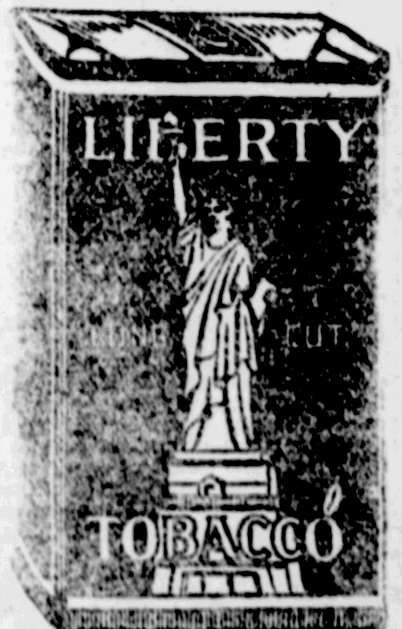

That means LIBERTY is a real long cut.

And LIBERTY is absolutely free from loose, hard stems—they're picked out by hand.

That means LIBERTY is real tobacco.

LIBERTY packs right down into your pipe for a cool, slow-burning smoke. Or rolls into a wad of juicy sweetness for a husky, lasting, man-size chew.

LIBERTY is made of full-bodied, full-flavored Kentucky tobacco. And the ageing we give this rich leaf—up to five years—puts a satisfying relish into LIBERTY that just suits hearty chewers and smokers from the ground up.

When a man who knows a man's tobacco gives LIBERTY the once over he sticks to it for keeps. So will you.

Deadly Gila Monster.

The gila monster is a clumsy, heavy lizard, though a full-grown specimen is a wonderfully striking object to behold. It is justly famous as one of Mexico's most interesting reptiles, for it abounds all over that country from the border to the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. It is popularly called gila monster because it was once quite common along the Gila river in Arizona.

Sensitive Plant.

Leaves of the manaca palm, probably the commonest forest plant in Central America, have a queer habit of trembling violently when no wind is stirring that the human faculties can detect, although, as no other explanation exists, it is reasonable to suppose there must be some tiny air currents moving to which the plant responds with extreme sensitiveness.

Reduced Request.

My little niece had a favorite uncle who always gave her anything she wanted. One day she peeped into the bedroom and saw who, she thought, was the uncle, and said: "Oh Uncle John, gimme a nickel." The figure turned over and the little miss was much surprised to see another, whereupon she said: "O Uncle Bill, gimme two cents."—Chicago Tribune.

SHIPOLOAD OF MILK FOR GERMANY AND AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Thousands of Babies' Lives
Depend on Prompt Action.

Milk in large quantities must be forwarded to Austria-Hungary, Germany and Poland at once if the lives of thousands of innocent babies are to be saved.

Official German statistics which S. S. McClure brought with him when he returned from abroad show that the baby death rate in Berlin declined in the latter part of 1915 until in September, October and November it was less than ten to each hundred births in the same month. This is about the same as the average infant mortality rate in New York city, for during 1915 there were in Greater New York 141,256 births and in the same period 13,866 deaths under one year of age. In December, 1915, however, the death rate in Berlin dropped to over sixteen deaths to each 100 births, due unquestionably to the shortage of milk, which began to be acute in December and has been constantly growing since.

The official figures only extend through December, 1915. Statements made by Mr. McClure had raised the hope that the Teutonic babies were in no danger. Unfortunately the opposite has been clearly proved by the investigations of such well known Americans as Hon. Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, father of the juvenile courts in this country, and Miss Ernestine Evans, a newspaper writer of New York, who tell of what they saw in Germany this spring.

No Milk For the Babies.

"What I saw," says Judge Lindsey, "appeals to me strongly in behalf of the little ones. I have seen hundreds of babies in various places, where they were brought for milk or to be taken care of and where small daily rations of milk were doled out. I heard but one complaint everywhere. That was of the shortage of butter and the INABILITY TO OBTAIN SUFFICIENT MILK FOR BABIES AND CHILDREN."

"I shall never forget," says Miss Evans, "the weary lines I used to pass over the haggard faced and haggard hearted mothers with a child at the heels and another rested on the hip, counting their marks and pennings, quite aware that the milk they wanted to buy couldn't be bought."

Will Send American Milk.

Under the auspices of the Citizens' Committee for Food Shipments, with headquarters in the Woolworth building, New York city, and of which Dr. Henry J. Wolf is president, Carl L. Schurz, the well known New York lawyer and son of the famous Carl Schurz, treasurer and Dr. Edmund von Mach executive chairman, a movement has been inaugurated with the ultimate object of securing a ship, loading it with American condensed and dry milk and sending it to one of the German ports, probably Stettin, on the Baltic, from which point this supply of milk is to be distributed under the auspices of the American National Red Cross to the distressed babies in Germany, Austria-Hungary and Poland.

Speaking on this subject recently in congress, Hon. Henry I. Emerson, Republican congressman from Ohio, said: "We have a move on foot to send a boat full of condensed milk to Germany under American Red Cross supervision. It would be eminently just. If the babies do not need the milk it will not be distributed; if they do, as we honestly believe they do, it will be distributed. I do not believe the people of England or France or Russia will object."

Attitude of the U. S. Government. The attitude of the United States government is made clear by correspondence between Dr. von Mach and government officials. Hon. Frank L. Polk, counselor of the State Department, writing "for the Secretary of State" and inclosing a copy of the British Order in Council of March 11, 1915, says, "This Order in Council is at the present time the subject of diplomatic discussion between the government of Great Britain and the government of the United States, which does not admit the legality of any action taken by the British authorities under the provisions of the order."

Hon. Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York, explained the position of the customs authorities as follows: "This office knows of no legal reason for withholding clearance of such a vessel."

Funds Are Needed.

Now that the tension between the United States and Germany has been relieved, the time is opportune for sending forward this shipload of milk. All the regular steamship lines are at present dependent upon the good will of Great Britain and unable to carry this milk to the babies of the Central Empire. It is therefore necessary for the Citizens' Committee to buy or charter a small steamer and load it with nothing but MILK FOR BABIES.

About $425,000 is needed for the milk and the ship and the cost of the trip. Contributions may be sent to Carl L. Schurz, care of the German-American bank, New York city.

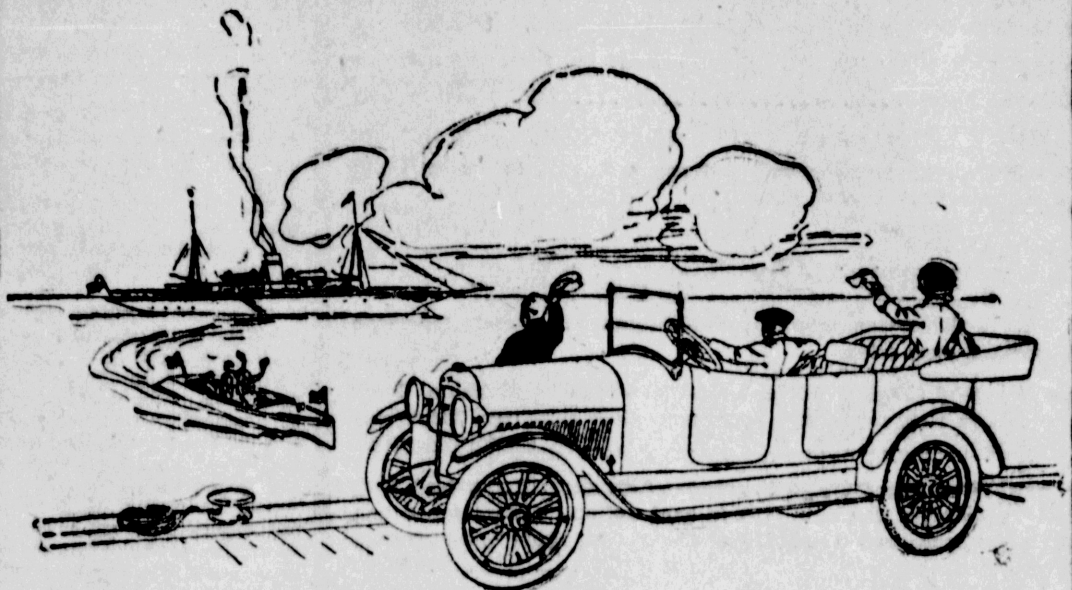

Information relative to the proposed shipments will be supplied by Dr. Edmund von Mach, executive chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Food Shipments, Woolworth building, New York city.

Next!

In the office of a broker in plays in New York city this framed placard hangs as a suggestion to authors that they must persevere: "Plays are not written; they are rewritten.—Boucault."

Light? Yes! But nourishing and strengthening.

"FORCE" for example. There's a light food that is yet strong in nourishment.

Everyone knows that wheat is man's greatest food. You know how it nourishes, up-builds and strengthens.

And what a delicious taste! As you "scrape" for the last spoonful of the crispy, crunchy flakes, you think of just one word—"More."

Try "FORCE" TOASTED WHEAT FLAKES for breakfast tomorrow. Husband and the kiddies will thank you for a real treat.

Tailoring for Young Men

The spirit of youth demands clothes that are different—not extreme nor conspicuous, but a mild suggestion of each, coupled with a degree of dignity.

Such an ideal is not to be found in ready-made clothes or in "ordinarily tailored garments."

My success in meeting the demands of young men—and older men, too—lies in my ability to blend skill and experience with their ideas and notions. The result is Spring and Summer Suits that are a source of satisfaction and comfort. Come in and "talk it over" with me.

It induced him to part with money which was received with knowledge of the violation of the clause quoted in the policy. The law I deem applicable to these facts. I quote from a case cited in the defendant's brief, Stalle vs. Aetna Fire and Marine Insurance Co., 27 Am. Rep., 593, at page 595:

"The act relied on as a waiver must be such as to estop a party from insisting on performance of the contract or forfeiture of the condition. There must be some act or declaration of the defendant or of the defendant's agent to the plaintiff, which so affected the conduct of the latter to his injury as that it would be unjust now to permit the defendant to set up or have the benefit of the clause of the policy in question. It is not necessary to an equitable estoppel that the party should intend wilfully to mislead, but whatever may be the intent, if he makes such a representation as a sensible man would take to be true, and believe it was meant he should act upon it, and he does so act, the party making the representation is precluded from contesting its truth."

I think the same rule applies here, as in the case where a lease contains a covenant on the part of the lessee not to assign, with a forfeiture of the lease in case of breach, that acceptance of rent by the lessor, accruing after an assignment, with knowledge thereof, is a waiver of the forfeiture.

Murray vs. Harway, 56 N. Y., 337. My opinion is, that notwithstanding the provision for forfeiture in the policy in case of assignment, the defendant having accepted payments of premiums from the plaintiff with knowledge of the assignment, should pay the policy.

I think the proofs of death were sufficient in face of the fact that the plaintiff offered to supply further proofs if the defendant demanded them and under the circumstances the defendant did not insist upon further proofs. It follows, the plaintiff is entitled to judgment of $75 with interest, as demanded in the complaint.

Argument Hard to Answer.

Many a native of the Hawaiian Islands has a precarious knowledge of English, picked up from every source imaginable, and of which he is inclined to be proud. He airs it with and without provocation, and occasionally with startling effect, as the wife of the visiting missionary discovered. She said to the man-of-all-work: "I suppose you have no cows in these islands." "No cow? How—get milk no got cow?"

Good Japanese Custom.

Polite Japanese never have the grip because they commit "iki wo hiki," that is drawing in their breath sharply, a salutary custom which one doctor has declared incomparable as means of grip prevention, the idea being that Japanese are careful as to where and on whom they breathe and so keep the percentage of germ distribution at a rather respectable low figure.

"YALLER" IS WORKER SO HAD FINE PAID

Business Man Who Had Job Waiting for "Yaller" Paid His Fine of $10 so Maines Could Go to Work Today.

It is a lucky thing for "Yaller" Maines that he has a reputation of being a good worker when sober for it led a local business man to pay the fine of $10 imposed on "Yaller" for being drunk in order that Maines could go to work for him today. "Yaller" who has not been arrested in some time got gloriously drunk on Saturday and lay sleeping on the sidewalk downtown when he was picked up by Policeman Connelly. "Yaller" was so drunk that the only way to get him to the city hall was with the aid of the Black Maria. "Yaller" faced a sentence of 30 days in jail, unless he paid the fine, and his finances were very, very low after he had paid for his cargo of joy juice. It is hardly necessary to say that "Yaller" was a happy man when the one who needed his services paid the fine imposed by Recorder Lang.

This morning when arraigned before Recorder Lang he pleaded hard to be allowed to go. He said he had a good job in Stamford, Conn., but needing a new suit of clothes he had come on to Kingston with $50 he had made determined to buy the suit here as it was the only place he could find a suit that fitted well. Instead of getting the clothes he got a cargo of joy juice. He said he had no recollection of begging money from any one. Recorder Lang sentenced him to four months in the pen at Albany.

A charming reception gown is shown here, in which black silk net, gold lace and gold tissue cloth are combined. In the skirt a double tulle edged with jet drops over the tissue cloth underskirt, which is veiled with lace. The bodice is simple, with long "V" front and reverse collar of lace. The sleeves are quite interesting, for they are elbow length and effectively trimmed with black jet. A crushed girdle of blue satin affords a smart detail.

Markets or Territory?

Some national advertisers seek to cover territory, others hunt for markets, and when they find them, cultivate them.

Frequently they ask the aid of good newspapers like The Freeman in finding markets.

And when they find what they are looking for they advertise in newspapers.

Thus they not only reach consumers, but they entice retailers to an extent not possible in any other way. Manufacturers more interested in definite markets than in wide territory are invited to make inquiries of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

"I Want the Brand That's Known"

That's the way one customer answered a dealer who attempted to talk him into buying an unknown brand, which he said was just as good.

Of course, the dealer immediately sold him the genuine article when he realized his customer knew what he wanted and was determined to have it. But the question is, will that dealer ever have another opportunity to sell that customer the genuine article, or having annoyed him by what is sometimes considered "clever salesmanship," will the customer patronize a dealer in the future who promptly gives him what he asks for?

A person is certainly justified in resenting a dealer's efforts to persuade him to accept "something just as good" as the article he asked for. When a customer asks for an article by a specific name, he has a reason for wanting that particular article. Probably he has used it many times before and has found it meritorious. He may have read the advertisement in his newspaper and been convinced that that certain article would meet his requirements. Possibly it was highly recommended to him by his physician, or a friend. Do you suppose he will be satisfied with a "Just as Good?"

Dealers, get the reputation for carrying standard, well-known merchandise. Please your customers by giving them first-class service and let them know they will get what they ask for when they come into your store.

MURPHY WINS INSURANCE CASE

Judge Jenkins has handed down a decision in the suit brought by Nicholas D. J. Murphy against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to recover on a policy of insurance issued on the life of Sarah Jones, which the company refused to pay because of alleged irregularities although it had accepted the premiums from Mr. Murphy. Judge
 Jenkins finds in favor of Murphy.

The case was tried some time ago.
 Judge N. Frank O'Reilly appearing for Murphy and Brinier & Canfield for the insurance company.

Judge Jenkins' opinion, which sets forth the facts fully, is as follows:

On the 15th day of February, 1895, the defendant issued an insurance policy on the life of Sarah Jones in consideration of a weekly payment of fifteen cents. Mary A.
 West, daughter of the assured, was named as beneficiary in the policy.
 She died before her mother, and shortly after her death, Sarah Jones assigned the policy to John J. Murphy by an assignment in writing. He remained in possession of the policy and paid the premiums until his death. The plaintiff, Nicholas D. J.
 Murphy, was appointed administrator of his estate. He told the assignee that he could not keep up the policy as administrator, and returned the same with the assignment thereof to the insured. She paid on the policy for some time and finally brought it back to the plaintiff, stating that she could not keep it up and requested him to take it and upon her death to collect the proceeds and bury her. He promised so to do and took possession of the policy.
 The premiums have been paid. Defendant disputes the right of the plaintiff to recover in this action upon several grounds, among others being that he is not the administrator of the assured; that he is not a beneficiary named in the policy; that he can have no interest therein except by assignment, and that by the terms of the contract of insurance such assignment makes it void. The assignment is also denied.

If there has been no assignment of this policy then the proper person to bring the action would have been the legal representative of the assured. If the title to the policy remained in John J. Murphy at the time of its maturity, then this action should have been brought by the plaintiff in his representative capacity. If there is a legal assignment to the plaintiff, then the action is properly brought in his name.

If the plaintiff had a valid claim against the estate of the assured, he would be eligible to the appointment of administrator of the estate, and upon securing letters could have brought an action in that capacity against the defendant; or, if the title was in John J. Murphy at the time of his death by virtue of the written assignment to him, and plaintiff had not assumed it he could have brought his action in his representative capacity as administrator of John J. Murphy, but if the facts here prove an assignment of the policy to John J. Murphy in his lifetime, a re-assignment from the plaintiff as administrator of John J.
 Murphy to the insured, and an assignment by the insured to this plaintiff, then this action is properly brought by the plaintiff. The plaintiff has always maintained that he was the owner of the policy by virtue of transactions resulting in the transfer of the legal title thereof to himself.

The three things to be determined here, are:

First, Did the plaintiff become the legal owner of the policy of insurance by assignment?

Second, If there was such an assignment, did it not, under the terms of the policy make the policy void?

Third, If an assignment worked a forfeiture, is the defendant estopped from relying upon such a defense?

The evidence relating to the alleged assignment of the policy in-suits is, that Sarah Jones, some time in 1895, which is about ten years after the issuing of the policy by the defendant to her, had a conversation with John J. Murphy in the presence of the plaintiff in which she said that her daughter had died and that it was impossible for her to keep up the policy any longer and that she wanted the plaintiff's father to keep it up. That was after he had buried her daughter, and at the time she came to pay him for the funeral expenses. She had the policy with her and requested plaintiff's father to take it over and pay the premiums in consideration of which he was to bury her. He promised he would, and an assignment of the policy was prepared by the plaintiff, executed by Sarah Jones and witnessed by the plaintiff.
 The policy and assignment thereupon came into possession of the plaintiff's father who died some time in 1911, in possession of them.
 During the interval between the assignment of the policy and his death,
 a period of five or six years, plaintiff's father paid the premiums on the policy to the defendant. On or about the 17th of May, 1911, plaintiff was appointed administrator of his father's estate and thereby came into possession of the policy and the assignment. While acting as such administrator, the plaintiff had a conversation with Sarah Jones, the assured, in which he said he would not be able to keep the policy up as administrator, and gave it back to her with the assignment. After she had kept the policy for a short time and made some payments thereon, she returned it to the plaintiff and stated it was impossible for her to pay any longer; that she did not want to be buried a pauper and unless the policy was kept up she would be buried as such; after which statement the plaintiff in company with Sarah Jones, went to the office of the defendant in the city of Kingston, and had a conversation with Fred J.
 Williams, at that time the general agent of the defendant in the city of Kingston. It seems she there expressed her plaintiff made beneficiary under the policy, and Superintendent Williams said it was not necessary, that if the plaintiff paid the premium it would entitle him to collect the policy

 after the death of the insured.

The plaintiff told Mr. Williams at the time, that he did not want the policy as administrator of his father's estate, but wanted the assignment personally. Mr. Williams said that would be all right, that whoever paid the premiums would be the one that could collect on the policy, whereupon Sarah Jones told the defendant to call on the plaintiff for premiums and the plaintiff agreed to pay them. Plaintiff did pay premiums until Sarah Jones reached the age of seventy-five years, at which time the policy in effect became a paid-up policy.

The premiums were paid by the plaintiff until May 27, 1912. The policy and the assignment to John J.
 Murphy were delivered to Sarah Jones by the plaintiff. This is briefly the evidence which the plaintiff claims proves title in him. A policy of insurance payable to a representative of the insured is a chose in action capable of assignment, which assignment may be oral, if accompanied by delivery of the policy.

Hartnett vs. Prudential Insurance
 Co., 91 A. D., 435.

Griffin vs. Prudential Insurance
 Co., 43 A. D., 499.

To refute the evidence of the assignment of the policy to the plaintiff, the defendant introduced in evidence an application dated July 31, 1913, made by Sarah Jones to the defendant for a duplicate, or policy certificate, to replace the original insurance policy herein, upon the ground that such original had been lost, in which application said Sarah Jones states that she is the owner of the policy. Defendant also introduced a certificate to the effect that said Sarah Jones was in possession of the premium receipt book and that she was the person who paid the premiums for years and months, made by C. J. Weber, agent-superintendent.

The plaintiff knew of this application and the statement therein contained, and procured Sarah Jones to make the application. He says he did not sign the application but he had her sign it. After the certificate of the lost policy was issued it came into the possession of the plaintiff.
 To explain the application for the lost policy certificate being made by Sarah Jones, the plaintiff testified on re-direct examination that she was sick and sent for him and asked him if her insurance was all right.
 She expressed her fear of being buried a pauper. Whereupon the plaintiff says he went back to the office to see if the insurance was all right, and could not find the policy.
 He then notified the company and it told him that he would have to produce the insured. He said she was very ill and thought it better to report and get a duplicate before she died. The superintendent sent the agent down to get her to sign the application. He says he told her it was all right to sign it, it was simply a matter of form, and plaintiff paid ten cents for the certificate. The defendant refused to issue a certificate unless the application was signed by Sarah Jones. When it was issued it was delivered to the plaintiff by the agent of the defendant.

I conclude that the plaintiff became the owner of the policy of insurance through assignment. Sarah Jones died June 17, 1915, and the plaintiff, who is an undertaker, buried her and has not been paid for such burial.

There is a provision in this policy that it will become void by an assignment thereof. I assume this provision valid and binding. Such provision in a policy of fire insurance is legal although a provision against assignment after maturity would be considered of no force, as being against public policy.

Assuming this provision against assignment valid, the insured having assigned the policy, no recovery can be had thereunder unless the defendant is estopped from enforcing such provision. I think the defendant waived the provision in the contract against assignment, and is estopped from using it as a defense to the action.

It appears that the general agent of the company, Mr. Williams, advised the plaintiff to pay the premiums to the defendant. Plaintiff, acting under this advice, paid them.

There is a provision in the policy which provides as follows: "Fourth-Agents (which term includes superintendents and assistant superintendents) are not authorized and have no power to make, alter or discharge contracts, or to waive forfeitures, or to receive premiums on policies in arrears more than four weeks, or to receipt for the same in the receipt book, and all such arrears given to an agent shall be at the sole risk of those who pay them and shall not be credited upon the policy, whether entered in the receipt book or not." The defendant sought to protect itself against waiver and estoppel growing out of payment of premiums to agents after a policy had become forfeited by arrears, but it has not made any like provision against payment to agents upon a policy assigned contrary to the terms thereof. Expressly providing against waiver and estoppel in case of payment to agents on policies in arrears, and not in cases of payments upon assigned policies, the plaintiff that the general agent of the defendant was authorized to waive such provision and accept premiums on the policy.

Furthermore, "Notice of fact to an agent is constructive notice thereof to the principal himself, where it arises from, or is at the time connected with, the subject-matter of his agency; for, upon general principles of public policy, it is presumed that the agent has communicated such facts to the principal; and if he has not, still the principal, having entrusted the agent with the particular business, the other party has a right to deem his acts and knowledge obligatory upon the principal."

Story on Agency, section 140, as quoted in McClellan vs. Metropolitan Insurance Co., 217 N. Y., 236, at page 347.

I think under the principles announced in the case last cited, the defendant is charged with notice of the assignment of the policy to the plaintiff. With such notice, it received premiums from the plaintiff;

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

When the baseball season opened and the barrier arose, St. Louis fans all shouted loud: "Watch Fielder—there he goes!" "He'll cop the rag, with Brownie crew," "A cinch for our home boys." The race is on—but St. Louis is a town devoid of joys.

The fizzle of the highly touted Brownies surely stands out as the greatest upset of the baseball year. They were doped by every critic to have at least an outside chance for the bunting. Some enthusiasts went so far as to vote them a split of the world series meion without requiring them to finish out the season.

But the Browns are in a deep, deep rut. They are fighting it out with the down trodden athletics for subway dishonors, and unless they pull themselves together very shortly, the Fielder Jones crowd may win out and land last place with a half dozen games to spare.

When the 1915 Browns and St. Louis Feds were merged it put under the leadership of Jones a mighty choice assortment of baseballers. He had a flock of great outfielders, a fine catching staff, an army of good pitchers and at least six crack infielders to choose from. It seemed to the Brownie fans that Jones could make a selection with his eyes closed and still have a great outfit.

But the team he has put into the field has been walloped ingloriously. It has been beaten by the strongest and the weakest. It seems to lack the punch. The team, as it is made up at present, is a duffer.

It will be noticed that in the regular Brownie lineup—Federal Leagueers prevail. They monopolize the regular berths despite the fact that Jones had under his control when the merger was effected a number of 1915 Brownie players who seemed far superior to those who are now cavorting in Brownie uniforms. Why didn't he keep them?

Well, there's the story, in the opinion of St. Louis fans who have become disgusted with the up-to-date showing of the club. They claim that Phil Ball, owner of the club, has sacrificed the pennant chances of his team by selling or releasing 1915 Brownies and keeping the bulk of the 1915 St. Louis Feds. "Practically all of the 1915 St. Louis Feds were under iron-clad contract for another year or two with Ball," we are told. "Ball had to assume the contracts of the Brownie players as well as those of his 1915 Feds. Many of the Brownie contracts called for more money than those of the St. Louis Feds. Instead of retaining the best players of the bunch, Ball has let go the players whose contracts called for the biggest salaries. That means he has kept in the main only the low priced players and, as a result, the team is mediocre."

"True, the Brownies have some good pitchers and they have lost several games because the breaks were against them. But they lack the wallop. Had they kept a few of the men they had they would have had a far better team."

The fans also charge that Jones is showing favoritism in playing his men. Charley Deal is cavorting at third regularly, despite the fact that he isn't hitting with much gusto nor fielding with any special brilliancy. Meanwhile Jimmy Austin, of the 1915 Brownies, is doing bench duty, despite the fact that Austin is ranked everywhere as the peer of Deal.

"Jones kept on playing Tobin in the outfield, although Tobin's hitting power was a joke," declared one critic. "Tobin is speedy. There is no doubt of that. He probably can circle the bases as fast as any man in the game. But what good does his speed do when he can't get on the bases? Ward Miller, a veteran, is being played in the Brownie outfield regularly. He's a good fielder but he isn't doing any real hitting. Yet he was a sloufer in 1915 and therefore it seems he must be a regular."

"Marsans was a great outfielder—once upon a time. But he isn't starting now. Yet he is a regular. What's the answer?"

Mystics "Come Back."

After suffering three defeats, in the first three starts, the Mystic Baseball Club of this city, started a "come back" in their fourth game, played with the Colonials, on the Andrew street grounds, whom they neatly trimmed to the tune of 11 to 7. Russell the new first baseman, recently acquired by the Mystics, proved his worth, and the Mystics now look forward to a successful season.

RED MONOGRAM

HIGH SCHOOL, 5 REARDON SCHOOL, 0

Saturday afternoon the local ball tossers of the high school showed the Raymond Reardon school's team at Highland where our representatives should stand, when they successfully constructed five ovals around the diamond while the down river team was slowly making up its mind to increase its stock in trade by the acquisition of a quite solid goose egg.

The Reardon fellows couldn't quite believe their eyes when they saw the work of our Mutt & Jeff combination, but when little Bill in the center of the diamond spread his feet to fill the footprints of his husky Mexican opponent and predecessor, and when at the same time big "T." settled into shape to receive the horse skin coated pill, there was no comedy enacted by our so-called Mutt and Jeff.

Oh no, not for Highland any way, for it was a tragedy for them. Bill put 'em across, and over, and under to the extent of eleven strikeouts, but that wasn't all, not by a whole lot, for again the outfield strack back on its haunches, and observed the game with only two slight interruptions. It's inhuman the way our little pitcher toys with his victims.

Once in a while he rests up a bit, lets a man or two get on base, and then he advises that ball to take a journey skyward, merely stopping off to change cars at home plate, and after the batter has availed himself of the opportunity to puff hopelessly down to first, the ball uses up its return ticket and lands peacefully in the catcher's mitt. One of the men on bases is trapped and the Maroon and White trots off the field and reposes on the benches. It's not luck, not a bit of it. It's a regular occurrence.

The outfield only had two chances to gather up the ball, but Kiernan used one of these to make the nicest running catch a ball fan ever saw executed.

From Kingston's point of view the game may be summarized as follows: Johnson, Kiernan, MacAuliffe and Terwilliger, each made a two base hit. Mac struck out 11 men and gave two a base on balls, and Wheeler put in a neat double play without any assistance. Silverman sacrificed a hit and a fly, while practically all the team managed to steal bases; Silverman 2, Wheeler 1, Johnson 2, Terwilliger 1, Relyea 1, Kiernan 1, and MacAuliffe 2.

As to the Raymond Reardon team, Baneroff and Spinney each stole a base. Their pitcher, Freeman, struck out 18 men, gave four their base on balls and hit one man. This named young Mexican had some "wing," and his fellow countrymen might well call him home and use him for a cannon.

The umpire was Mr. Campbell, a Highland man, who gave the local team as square a deal as he gave his own home team.

The box score follows with A.B. meaning at bat; R, runs; H, hits; P.O., put outs; A, assists, and E, errors:

Red Seals Beat Brewsters.

On the Andrew street grounds yesterday afternoon before a large crowd the Red Seals defeated the Brewster Powder Company team of Port Ewen by a score of 17-8. Stout, who pitched for the "Blow 'em up" game, was very generous with his hits, 17 were made off of him. It was said that the hat which the Wilbur Feds furnished him was entirely too big, falling in his eyes and he could not see where he was throwing the ball. A smaller size will help Mr. Stout considerably. Robinson took things easy, as the opponents did not prove very dangerous at any time. Six hits were made off him. Butler had the big bat yesterday. He stepped to bat five times and got four hits and a walk. One thousand per cent was his batting average. Next Sunday the Wilbur Feds will cross bats with the Red Seals on the Andrew street grounds and a great game can be expected. The score by innings follows:

Brewsters	0	1	0	0	3	0	2	8
Red Seals	2	4	5	2	3	0	0	17

(By Frank G. Menke.)

Walter Johnson staged that old drama: "Revenge is Sweet" against the Indians. He pitched his team to victory and batted in the winning run.

The west, outside of the Indians, who are leading the American League, is not showing much class. Eastern teams with the exception of the Athletics are in the first division.

Far be it from us to praise the Giants, but any team that can win eleven straight in enemy territory and jump from last to fourth place in less than two weeks deserves some mention.

Frank Kramer seems to improve with age. The champ bicycle rider is going after the longer distance races and won the ten miles open yesterday.

The Newark Internationals, who jumped way out in front early in the season, have been brought back with a sudden check, losing four games to Montreal in two days.

Staging a belated rally the Phillies trimmed the Chicago by batting in four runs in the ninth.

Tyler shut out the Cardinals and won the game for the Braves with a double, sending two men across.

FISCHER'S NEW THEATER PLANS

Broadway Frontage of Casino Lot
Will be Sold and Theater Erected in the Rear.

Work of tearing down the ruins of the Broadway Casino was begun last week and the property will be cleared up within the next few days and the site will be used for the erection of a modern ground floor theater. The plans for the theater building were described in The Freeman some time ago but these plans will probably be slightly altered according to a statement given out by Mr. Fischer.

The property has a frontage of 160 feet on Broadway and a depth of 150 feet and it is the present plans of Mr. Fischer to divide the front of the property into eight building lots 20x70 feet deep. These lots are to be sold at public auction on Saturday to the highest bidder and business houses may be erected upon them. In the rear of these lots Mr. Fischer will retain a property 80x

160 feet upon which he will erect the proposed theater building. One of the lots on Broadway will be retained for an entrance to the theater lobby. This plan has been adopted in other cities where the frontage along a street is very valuable.

The lots on Broadway will be sold either singly or in one parcel and will afford merchants wishing to establish branches near the West Shore an excellent location to secure a property on Broadway, while the plan will in no way interfere with the erection of the theater.

NEGRO FIGHTER USED A KNIFE

Fight Staged in Saloon at Kingston Point—One Negro Carried about the Face Saturday Night—Slasher Sent to Jail.

Saturday night Gus Riddick, a negro, was badly slashed about the face with a knife in the hands of another negro, Blanch Mansfield. The slasher made his escape but was later caught and taken to jail. From the story as told this morning when Mansfield was arraigned before Recorder Lang, the slashed negro was dancing with "his girl" and Mansfield made some remark. This was in Guadalupe's saloon on North street. The remark was followed by a fight in which Riddick came out second best as Blanch drew a large jack knife and used it to such advantage that Riddick was carved severely about the face and it was necessary to have Dr. O'Leary take a half a dozen stitches in Riddick's face. After the scrap Policemen Boyd and O'Neil searched the premises and vicinity for Mansfield, but he had escaped. Later in the night Policeman Shader caught Mansfield as he was about to board a train at the West Shore station. He searched Mansfield and found the blood stained knife in his pocket. This morning Mansfield pleaded guilty to assault and was sentenced to six months in jail by Recorder Lang. Riddick, with his face all bandaged up, appeared in court to press the charge against Blanch. Both negroes are employed on the brickyards at East Kingston.

County Officers Visit W. C. T. U.

Those who attended the W. C. T. U. meeting on Thursday, May 18, held in the parlor of St. James's M. E. Church, were greatly favored, as three of the county officers were present. Mrs. Martha E. Bell, of Milton, county president, was in town on business in regard to the league to the County W. C. T. U., given by the late John R. Hunt of Ellenville whereby a sum of money was bequeathed to the organization for the purpose of building county headquarters at Ellenville. Mrs. J. R. Hunt was for many years the loved and trusted county treasurer of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Bell was accompanied by Mrs. J. D. Rose of Highland, the corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Schofield, secretary of literature. Mrs. Bell spoke briefly of her errand to Kingston and Mrs. Rose very ably spoke of the department work of the local unions and that the success of the cause depends very largely upon the faithful local superintendents, who, each in her own small corner strives to carry on the work of her department faithfully and reports results to the county superintendent. The visitors were very welcome and we hope to see them again.

Deadly Gila Monster.

The gila monster is a clumsy, heavy lizard, though a full-grown specimen is a wonderfully striking object to behold. It is justly famous as one of Mexico's most interesting reptiles, for it abounds all over that country from the border to the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.
It is popularly called gila monster because it was once quite common along the Gila river in Arizona.

Sensitive Plant.

Leaves of the manaca palm, probably the commonest forest plant in Central America, have a queer habit of trembling violently when no wind is stirring that the human faculties can detect, although, as no other explanation exists, it is reasonable to suppose there must be some tiny air currents moving to which the plant responds with extreme sensitiveness.

Reduced Request.

My little niece had a favorite doll who always gave her anything she wanted. One day she peeped into the bedroom and saw who she thought was the uncle, and said: "Oh Uncle John, gimme a nickel." The figure turned over and the little miss was much surprised to see another, whereupon she said: "O Uncle Bill, gimme

It induced him to part with money which was received with knowledge of the violation of the clause quoted in the policy. The law I deem applicable to these facts. I quote from a case cited in the defendant's brief, Stalle vs. Aetna Fire and Marine Insurance Co., 27 Am. Rep., 553, at page 555: "The act relied on as a waiver must be such as to estop a party from insisting on performance of the contract or forfeiture of the condition. There must be some act or declaration of the defendant or of the defendant's agent to the plaintiff, which so affected the conduct of the latter to his injury as that it would be unjust now to permit the defendant to set up or have the benefit of the clause of the policy in question. It is not necessary to an equitable estoppel that the party should intend wilfully to mislead; but whatever may be the intent, if he makes such a representation as a sensible man would take to be true, and believe it was meant he should act upon it, and he does so act, the party making the representation is precluded from contesting its truth."

I think the same rule applies here, as in the case where a lease contains a covenant on the part of the lessee not to assign, with a forfeiture of the lease in case of breach, that acceptance of rent by the lessor, accruing after an assignment, with knowledge thereof, is a waiver of the forfeiture.

Murray vs. Harway, 56 N. Y., 337.

My opinion is, that notwithstanding the provision for forfeiture in the policy in case of assignment, the defendant having accepted payments of premiums from the plaintiff with knowledge of the assignment, should pay the policy.

I think the proofs of death were sufficient in face of the fact that the plaintiff offered to supply further proofs if the defendant demanded them and under the circumstances the defendant did not insist upon further proofs. It follows, the plaintiff is entitled to judgment of $75 with interest, as demanded in the complaint.

Argument Hard to Answer.

Many a native of the Hawaiian Islands has a precarious knowledge of English, picked up from every source imaginable, and of which he is inclined to be proud. He airs it with and without provocation, and occasionally with startling effect, as the wife of the visiting missionary discovered. She said to the man-of-all-work: "I suppose you have no cows in these islands." "No cow? How—get milk no got cow?"

Good Japanese Custom.

Polite Japanese never have the grip because they commit "iki wo hiki," that is drawing in their breath sharply, a salutary custom which one doctor has declared incomparable as a means of grip prevention, the idea being that Japanese are careful as to where and on whom they breathe and so keep the percentage of germ distribution at a rather respectable low figure.

To clean glass bottles that have held oil, place ashes in each and immerse in cold water; then heat the water gradually until it boils. After boiling for an hour let the bottles remain in the water until cold, afterward washing in soap and rinsing in clear water.

"YALLER" IS WORKER SO HAD FINE PAID

Business Man Who Had Job Waiting for "Yaller" Paid His Fine of $10 so Maines Could Go to Work Today.

It is a lucky thing for "Yaller" Maines that he has a reputation of being a good worker when sober for it led a local business man to pay the fine of $10 imposed on "Yaller" for being drunk in order that Maines could go to work for him today. "Yaller" who has not been arrested in some time got gloriously drunk on Saturday and lay sleeping on the sidewalk downtown when he was picked up by Policeman Connelly. "Yaller" was so drunk that the only way to get him to the city hall was with the aid of the Black Maria. "Yaller" faced a sentence of 30 days in jail, unless he paid the fine, and his finances were very low, very low after he had paid for his cargo of joy juice. It is hardly necessary to say that "Yaller" was a happy man when the one who needed his services paid the fine imposed by Recorder Lang.

PANHANDLER SENT TO ALBANY PEN

Told Recorder Lang Fishy Yarn of Coming Here From Connecticut to Buy Suit of Clothes—Caught Panhandling by Officer Shader.

William Reilly, who has been a nuisance of himself stopping people on the street and begging for money was arrested for panhandling Saturday night by Policeman Shader. This morning when arraigned before Recorder Lang he pleaded hard to be allowed to go. He said he had a good job in Stamford, Conn., but needing a new suit of clothes he had come on to Kingston with $50 he had made determined to buy the suit here as it was the only place he could find a suit that fitted well. Instead of getting the clothes he got a cargo of joy juice. He said he had no recollection of begging money from any one. Recorder Lang sentenced him to four months in the pen at Albany.

To Cleanse Fur of a Cat.

Take a large cupful of granulated corn meal, add pinch of fine grape seed. Face cat on apron or other cloth, then rub meal gently and thoroughly through the fur, gathering the meal up and repeating three or four times. This will heal and leave skin perfectly clean and the fur soft and luxuriant. Will also remove fleas.

Markets or Territory?

Some national advertisers seek to cover territory, others hunt for markets, and when they find them, cultivate them.

Frequently they ask the aid of good newspapers like The Freeman in finding markets.

And when they find what they are looking for they advertise in newspapers.

Thus they not only reach consumers, but they entice retailers to an extent not possible in any other way. Manufacturers more interested in definite markets than in wide territory are invited to make inquiries of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

"I Want the Brand That's Known"

That's the way one customer answered a dealer who attempted to talk him into buying an unknown brand, which he said was just as good.

Of course, the dealer immediately sold him the genuine article when he realized his customer knew what he wanted and was determined to have it. But the question is, will that dealer ever have another opportunity to sell that customer the genuine article, or having annoyed him by what is sometimes considered "clever salesmanship," will the customer patronize a dealer in the future who promptly gives him what he asks for?

A person is certainly justified in resenting a dealer's efforts to persuade him to accept "something just as good" as the article he asked for. When a customer asks for an article by a specific name, he has a reason for wanting that particular article. Probably he has used it many times before and has found it meritorious. He may have read the advertisement in his newspaper and been convinced that that certain article would meet his requirements. Possibly it was highly recommended to him by his physician, or a friend. Do you suppose he will be satisfied with a "Just as Good?"

Cases of Rhinoceros Horn.

Probably some of the most expensive cases to manufacture are those from rhinoceros horns. Such a case, when made of one piece of horn, often costs as high as $500. The high price is due to the expert treatment which the rhinoceros horn requires immediately after the beast has been slain.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)
When the baseball season opened And the barrier arose.
St. Louis fans all shouted loud: "Watch Fielder—there he goes!"
"He'll cop the rag, with Brownie crew."
"A catch for our home boys."
The race is on—but St. Louis is A town devoid of joys.
The fizzle of the highly touted Brownies surely stands out as the greatest upset of the baseball year. They were doped by every critic to have at least an outside chance for the bunting. Some enthusiasts went so far as to vote them a split of the world series melon without requiring them to finish out the season.
But the Browns are in a deep, deep rut. They are fighting it out with the down trodden athletics for subway dishonors, and unless they pull themselves together very shortly, the Fielder Jones crowd may win—and land last place with a half dozen games to spare.
When the 1915 Browns and St. Louis Feds were merged it put under the leadership of Jones a mighty choice assortment of baseballers. He had a flock of great outfielders, a fine catching staff, an army of good pitchers and at least six crack infielders to choose from. It seemed to the Brownie fans that Jones could make a selection with his eyes closed and still have a great outfit.
But the team he has put into the field has been walloped indignantly, and the worst. It seems to lack the punch. The team, as it is made up at present, is a flimsy one.
It will be noticed that in the regular Brownie line-up Federal Leaguers prevail. They monopolize the regular berths despite the fact that Jones had under his control when the merger was effected a number of 1915 Brownie players who seemed far superior to those who are now cavoring in Brownie uniforms. Why didn't he keep them?
Well, there's the story, in the opinion of St. Louis fans who have become disgusted with the up-to-date showing of the club. They claim that Phil Ball, owner of the club, has sacrificed the pennant chances of his team by selling or releasing 1915 Brownies and keeping the bulk of the 1915 St. Louis Feds.
"Practically all of the 1915 St. Louis Feds were under iron-clad contract for another year or two with Ball," we are told. "Ball had to assume the contracts of the Brownie players as well as those of his 1915 Feds. Many of the Brownie contracts called for more money than those of the St. Louis Feds. Instead of retaining the best players of the bunch, Ball has let go the players whose contracts called for the biggest salaries. That means he has kept in the main only the low priced players and, as a result, the team is mediocre."
"True, the Brownies have some good pitchers and they have lost several games because the breaks were against them. But they lost the wallops. Had they kept a few of the men they had they would have had a far better team."
The fans also charge that Jones is showing favoritism in playing his men. Charles Deal is cavoring at third regularly, despite the fact that he isn't hitting with much gusto nor fielding with any special brilliancy. Meanwhile Jimmy Austin, of the 1915 Brownies, is doing bench duty, despite the fact that Austin is ranked everywhere as the peer of Deal.
"Jones kept on playing Tobin in the outfield, although Tobin's hitting power was a joke," declared one critic. "Tobin is speedy. There is no doubt of that. He probably can circle the bases as fast as any man in the game. But what good does his speed do when he can't get on the bases? Ward Miller, a veteran, is being played in the Brownie outfield regularly. He's a good fielder but he isn't doing any real hitting. Yet he was a Sloufer in 1915 and therefore it seems he must be a regular."
Mystics "Come Back."
After suffering three defeats, in the first three starts, the Mystic Baseball Club of this city, staged a "come back" in their fourth game, played with the Colonials, on the Andrew street grounds, whom they neatly trimmed to the tune of 11 to 7. Russell the new first baseman, recently acquired by the Mystics, proved his worth, and the Mystics now look forward to a successful season.

RED MONOGRAM AND SPECIAL STOCK

Saturday afternoon the local ball tossers of the high school showed the Raymond Reardon school's team at Highland where our representatives should stand, when they successfully constructed five ovals around the diamond while the down river team was slowly making up its mind to increase its stock in trade by the acquisition of a quite solid goose egg.
The Reardon fellows couldn't quite believe their eyes when they saw the work of our Mutt & Jeff combination, but when little Bill in the center of the diamond spread his feet to fill the footprints of his husky Mexican opponent and predecessor, and when at the same time big "T." settled into shape to receive the horse skin coated pill, there was no comedy enacted by our so-called Mutt and Jeff.
Oh no, not for Highland any way, for it was a tragedy for them. Bill put 'em across, and over, and under to the extent of eleven strikeouts, but that wasn't all, not by a whole lot, for again the outfield sat back on its haunches, and observed the game with only two slight interruptions. It's inhuman the way our little pitcher tows with his victims. Once in a while he rears up a bit, lets a man or two get on base, and then he advises that ball to take a journey skyward, merely stopping off to change cars at home plate, and after the batter has availed himself of the opportunity to puff hopelessly down to first, the ball uses up its return ticket and lands peacefully in the catcher's mitt. "One of the men on bases is trapped and the Maroon and White trots off the field and reposes on the benches. It's not luck, not a bit of it. It's a regular occurrence."
The outfield only had two chances to gather up the ball, but Kiernan used one of these to make the nicest running catch a ball fan ever saw executed.
From Kingston's point of view the game may be summarized as follows: Johnson, Kiernan, MacAuliffe and Terwilliger, each made a two base hit. Mac struck out 11 men and gave two a base on balls, and Wheeler put in a neat double play without any assistance. Silverman sacrificed a hit and a fly, while practically all the team managed to steal bases; Silverman 2, Wheeler 1, Johnson 2, Terwilliger 1, Relyea 1, Kiernan 1, and MacAuliffe 2.
As to the Raymond Reardon team, Bancroft and Spinney each stole a base. Their pitcher, Freeman, struck out 18 men, gave four their base on balls and hit one man. This last named young Mexican had some "wing," and his fellow countrymen might well call him home and use him for a cannon.
The umpire was Mr. Campbell, a Highland man, who gave the local team as square a deal as he gave his own home team.
The box score follows with A.B. meaning at bat; R. runs; H. hits; P.O. put outs; A. assists, and E. errors:

Red Seals Beat Brewsters.
On the Andrew street grounds yesterday afternoon before a large crowd the Red Seals defeated the Brewster Powder Company team of Port Ewen by a score of 17-8. Stout, who pitched for the "Blow 'em up" gang, was very generous with his hits. 17 were made off of him. It was said that the bat which the Wilbur Feds. crashed him was entirely too big, falling in his eyes and he could not see where he was throwing the ball. A smaller size will help Mr. Stout considerably. Robinson took things easy as the opponents did not prove very dangerous at any time. Six hits were made off him. Butler had the big bat yesterday. He stepped to bat five times and got four hits and a walk. One thousand per cent was his batting average. Next Sunday the Wilbur Feds. will cross bats with the Red Seals on the Andrew street grounds and a great game can be expected. The score by innings follows:
Brewsters 0 1 0 0 3 0 2 0 8
Red Seals 2 4 5 2 3 0 0 1 17

There's no eye-opener for a sleepy family like breakfast rolls made of Presto FLOUR.

Turn off the alarm clock and then: 2 cups Presto, 2 tablespoons butter, scant 1/4 cup milk. Mix the Presto, then measure. Work the butter in with the tips of the fingers. Roll to 1/4 inch in thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter. Spread with butter, fold over, and press the edges together. Let rise 20 minutes. Bake in a hot oven.

Walter Johnson staged that old drama: "Revenge is Sweet" against the Indians. He pitched his team to victory and batted in the winning run.
The west, outside of the Indians, who are leading the American League, is not showing much class. Eastern teams with the exception of the Athletics are in the first place.
Far be it from us to praise the Giants, but any team that can win eleven straight in enemy territory and jump from last to fourth place in less than two weeks deserves some mention.
Frank Kramer seems to improve with age. The champion bicycle rider is going after the longer distance races and won the ten miles open yesterday.
The Newark Internationals, who jumped way out in front early in the season, have been brought back with a sudden check, losing four games to Montreal in two days.
Staging a belated rally the Phillies trimmed the Chicago by batting in four runs in the ninth.
Tyler shut out the Cardinals and won the game for the Braves with a double, sending two men across.
